State's Labor Supports LBJ

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

State AFL-CIO President Richard Nisley Friday said organized labor will support President Johnson in his presidential primary contest in Nebraska, and probably file a number of national convention delegate candidates committed to him.

There is "a reasonably good chance" that some labor leaders will seek election as candidates for delegate to the Democratic national convention, Nisley said.

"I am thinking seriously of filing myself," he noted.

Would Be New

Nisley acknowledged that labor's active participation in Democratic delegate elections would be something new for Nebraska.

The final official decision on organized labor's presidential primary activities will be made by the AFL-CIO state executive council, Nisley noted.

"But I'm sure we'll back the President," he said.

"Our national council has requested us to take action, and I'm certain we will."

'No Swell For McCarthy'

Nisley said the State AFL-CIO organization has already "checked out" the extent of Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy's strength in Nebraska, and has found "no real groundswell" of support for McCarthy or opposition to the President.

Nebraska's Democratic primary ballot currently lists McCarthy and former Alabama Gov. George Wallace as contenders for Johnson.

Wallace hopes to form a third party in Nebraska at a March 4 state convention in Omaha, and thereby remove his name from the Democratic ticket.

McCarthy's challenge to the President is based chiefly on opposition to Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Vietnam Policy Backed

"We support the President's Vietnam policy," Nisley said. "We support his persistent efforts to end the war through negotiations."

Labor "feels an obligation to try to help strengthen the President's hand by saying we're with you," the Omaha labor leader said.

"We think that is our obligation and our responsibility."

Labor believes that the U.S. has "got to be in there (in Vietnam)" in its own national interest, Nisley said.

The AFL-CIO boasts more than 70,000 members in Nebraska.

RED FLAG TORN DOWN

Saigon Banner Raised

. . . IN CITADEL

Saigon (AP)—South Vietnamese troops stormed into the last Red stronghold inside Hue's walled citadel Saturday morning and ripped down a Viet Cong flag that had flown over the old imperial palace since Jan. 31, the U.S. command said.

Then the soldiers raised the red and yellow banner of the Saigon government.

Fighting Still Heavy

One South Vietnamese official claimed that government troops and U.S. Marines had seized the main enemy position in the fortress. But Associated Press correspondent George McArthur reported that Communist troops still clung to large areas in and near the citadel and that heavy fighting was continuing.

Lt. Col. Pham Van Khoa, the province chief, said the allies had won control of the fortified palace grounds, which served as the Communist command post, and also the 1½-mile south wall of the citadel.

McArthur said other military sources reported that North Vietnamese soldiers and Viet Cong guerrillas retained control of parts of the palace grounds and the south wall. He said the citadel's west wall remained largely in Communist hands, as well as a residential area just outside the east wall.

Reds Given Chance

Allied troops attacked through a cold, misty rain just before dawn. Khoa said the assault was preceded by a broadcast beamed to the Communists and asking them to give up.

"Some surrendered but there was heavy fighting," he said.

While government troops and U.S. Marines appeared to be making their move to mop up an estimated 350 enemy diehards at Hue, Viet Cong gunners lobbed mortars and rockets into Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase, killing four U.S. servicemen and 11 Vietnamese civilians.

Khe Sanh Hit

At Khe Sanh on the northern frontier, dug-in allied troops absorbed a 1,300-shell Red barrage, the second heaviest bombardment of the Marine combat base which blocks enemy infiltration routes into South Vietnam's northern provinces. Eight Marines were killed Friday and 38 wounded.

Five hundred Communist infantrymen charged a section of Khe Sanh's barbed wire perimeter held by Vietnamese rangers. The U.S. command had no details but there was no indication of an enemy penetration.

After a two-day lull in sporadic attacks, Tan Son Nhut, on the western edge of Saigon, was hit by 18 rounds of mortars and 122mm rockets. Buildings were damaged and fires were started but no aircraft were reported hit in the dawn barrage.

Runways Operational

One of the two runways, among the world's busiest, was reported damaged slightly. But the base commander said emergency repairs were made and both runways remained operational.

In the air war, American bombers swarmed over the Vinh area of North Vietnam Friday and pounded the city's airfield and two railroad bridges.

American pilots also attacked artillery sites, storage areas, highways, antiaircraft and rocket positions and bunkers just above the demilitarized zone.

A STRANGER IS MADE WELCOME

A small doe joined the Willard Kilzer herd about three miles north of Seward over a week ago. Kilzer, who theorized hunters orphaned the young deer, said the newcomer seemed well aware of where her food was coming from. "She'll probably stick around until spring," he said, "or until a mate comes along."

Memphis Garbage Men, Police Battle In Streets

Memphis, Tenn. (UPI) — Striking garbage workers and police battled in the streets of downtown Memphis Friday. Officers waded into the strikers with nightsticks and riot control gas to break up the melee.

Violence erupted during a peaceful demonstration by some 1,500 strikers when one man in the group began to hurl rocks at a police car that was patrolling a march by the sanitation workers.

Police closed in from all sides as officers poured from squad cars carrying nightsticks and aerosol cans of Mace, a riot control gas.

Number Arrested

Authorities said several Negro sanitation workers were arrested, but the exact number was not known.

Observers said one man was beaten to the ground, blood streaming from his forehead, when he attempted to wrestle with police officers.

Downtown merchants quickly locked up their stores when the violence started, although it came at the height of Friday afternoon business.

The outbreak calmed almost as fast as it started. Police took control of the area in 10 minutes, but scattered groups of strikers moved into other sections of the business district with officers on alert.

On Strike 12 Days

The strikers' march began at the city auditorium where the city council refused to offer to negotiate a contract with the sanitation workers union. They have been on strike for 12 days.

The city council met earlier Friday in a surprise executive session and voted along racial lines to reject a committee recommendation that could have ended the 12-day-old garbage collectors' strike.

The vote was 9-4 against proposals brought by the public works committee urging the council to recognize and bargain with the union and institute a dues checkoff system.

The four Negro members of the council voted for the action while nine whites voted against.

Garbage Lid Is Enough To Give Mayor A Laugh

Eugene, Ore. (AP) — Newsmen presented Mayor John Lindsay of New York with a memento of his city's garbage strike — an engraved garbage can lid.

When Lindsay inspected the lid, he found inside a picture of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, pointing a finger. Rockefeller intervened in the strike, causing friction between Lindsay and the governor.

Lindsay laughed heartily at the picture. He had said earlier that he sees eye to eye with Rockefeller on most matters.

Missile Force 'Huge'--Soviet

New York Times Service

Moscow — Marshal Andrei A. Grechko, the defense chief, declared Friday that the Soviet Union had deployed an "enormous" force of intercontinental nuclear missiles.

The marshal's remarks followed a report from Washington earlier this week that the Soviet Union was on the verge of overtaking the United States in missile strength.

Grechko emphasized, however, that all branches of the Soviet armed forces had been strengthened and modernized recently to enable them to emerge victorious in any type of war, "with or without the use of nuclear weapons."

Speaking in the Kremlin on the 50th anniversary of the organization of the Soviet armed forces, the defense chief asserted that "aggressors" were deceiving themselves with illusions that they could develop a new combination of weapons and strategy that would defeat the Soviet Union.

According to Washington sources, the Soviet intercontinental missile force leaped from 340 in October, 1966, to 720 in October, 1967.

Pentagon sources added that the Soviet Union was building additional missiles. The land-based U.S. missile force is reported to be slightly in excess of 1,000.

Grechko voiced unreserved confidence in the battle capabilities of the Soviet armed forces, but he cautioned that 'contemporary capitalism is far from being a paper tiger," as the Chinese assert.

Omaha Drifter Tries To Rob N.Y. Bank—At Wrong Time

New York Times Service

New York — If there is a time and place for everything, Nebraskan Ramsey Snow picked the wrong time and the wrong place for an alleged holdup Friday.

The time was not long after the funeral services for patrolman Anthony Fraffia, who was shot to death Monday night while attempting to thwart a drugstore holdup.

The place was the Dry Dock Savings Bank branch, were a number of policemen who had just returned from the rites were waiting in plainclothes to cash their paychecks.

'Not A Chance'

"There must have been over 10 to 15 of us there," one of the patrolmen, Michael Demaria, said later. "That character didn't have a chance."

As the police recounted the episode, Snow allegedly handed a note to teller Felicia DeSalvo. It read: "This is a stickup. Please cooperate. You will not get hurt. Hand over your big bills."

The note was written on the back of a circular urging revision of the penal law to "give policemen back their power."

Omaha Drifter

As Snow, described as a 21-year-old drifter who had arrived here Monday from Omaha, Neb., allegedly fled from the bank with $4,300, the manager, James Demarco, approached patrolmen Peter Vitale and Thomas Merlino, who had been waiting on line.

"That man just robbed one of my tellers," Demarco whispered.

Vitale and Merlino set out in pursuit of Snow.

The policemen said they saw the six-foot, 185-pound Snow running along Sixth Street. The two patrolmen fired three warning shots in the air before seizing Snow after a half block chase.

Recital Hall Contract Approved

FHA Repossesses Few Local Houses

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

The number of houses acquired in Lincoln by the Federal Housing Administration as a result of default on FHA-insured loans is a "minor figure compared with normal repossession," according to Nebraska regional director Russell Bailey.

Last year FHA acquired only 56 properties in the Capital City and had sold 44 of them by the end of the year.

In 1966, 30 properties were received and sold. In 1965 15 were handled here, and the year before that the figure was even lower with FHA acquiring and selling only four houses.

Compares

These compare with FHA acquisitions in Omaha requiring resale of some 423 houses last year. Houses sold in 1967 numbered 514 there.

In previous years, acquisitions and sales in Omaha totaled, respectively, 416 and 379 in 1966; 352 and 309 in 1965, and 351 and 100 in 1964.

Deputy Director Jack D. Obbink explained that the difference is "only a reflection in the amount of (FHA) business" handled in the two cities.

Only a "fraction of our business is done in Lincoln," he said.

Loans Insured

The number of loans insured in Nebraska by FHA was 1,876 in 1967. A total of 2,349 was insured in 1966 and 3,868 was insured in 1965.

The state FHA office in Omaha is not able to report a breakdown of loans insured in Lincoln and Omaha, according to Obbink. That information is kept only in the Washington, D.C., national headquarters, he said.

FHA puts all of the houses it receives back on the real estate market as soon as possible, Bailey emphasized.

'Sold Soon'

Property in Lincoln is "sold almost as soon as it is listed," he pointed out.

If the lending agency does not choose to keep and resell its reclaimed property after it has been repossessed for default on a loan, the lender can turn the house over to FHA for the mortgage insurance.

The federal agency itself does not foreclose on mortgages.

Regulations require that the regional office keep the property 30 days before it is resold and that the property be improved before it is offered for sale at a price competitive on the local market.

8 Vehicles In Collision

Seven cars and one truck were involved in an accident at 25th and O Friday afternoon. Drivers and passengers suffered only minor bumps and bruises, police said.

Police said the massive accident occurred when a westbound truck driven by George Kuxhausen, 55, of Mitchell, collided with a car driven by Steven R. Hinze, 19, a University of Nebraska student. Kuxhausen's truck then struck two other cars, driven by Phillip Brusnahan, 37, 3400 Laura Avenue, and Marlene Decker, 24, 5019 Huntington.

Mrs. Decker's car then struck a car driven by Lucinda Young, 19, 1409 F, whose car struck one driven by Norman Thorpe, 2410 Park Avenue, Police said that Thorpe's car then struck yet another car driven by Wayne Heinzaman, 28, 1605 D, who backed into another car driven by Shirley Kirkland, 49, 1932 Monterey.

Police said that an unidentified pedestrian called the police station and said that the truck had 'jack-knifed' and struck a "bunch of cars" badly injuring the occupants.

As a result, police said, four ambulances were dispatched although none were needed.

ADC Freeze To Hurt State Less Than Originally Feared

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

State Welfare Director Harold Rogers said Friday the federal "freeze" on Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payments apparently won't hurt Nebraska as much as he had earlier feared.

"The freeze will cost all the states some money, but it looks better than we anticipated," Rogers commented upon returning from a two-day Washington conference between federal officials and state administrators.

Beginning July 1, federal participation in state ADC programs is being frozen at the present level of dependent children with absent parents in proportion to the general population.

Below Average

Nebraska now averages 28 ADC recipients for every 1,000 children under age 18. The national average is 48 per 1,000.

Nebraska has approximately 23,000 ADC recipients, latest figures show. Annual funding is $4.9 million federal and $2.8 million state.

Rogers had feared the federal definition of "absent parents" might adversely affect the Nebraska program.

Rogers said federally-defined absent parents are those absent by reason of divorce, desertion, illegitimacy or incarceration.

Census In Future

A complete census won't be required by July 1, the director said. Federal officials say they will accept a 10% sampling in the initial phase of the new regualtions.

Rogers said each county will be asked to report a 10% sampling of its cases.

Regarding the new federal "work incentive" regulations that go into effect July 1, 1969, Rogers said state enabling legislation in the 1969 session may be required.

Legislation Needed

The State Labor Department would administer the "work incentive program," but enabling legislation would be required so the Welfare Department could make payments directly for job training programs for ADC recipients.

"Right now," Rogers said, "all welfare payments must be made to the recipient except for medical vendors."

Rogers said the federal officials indicated the work incentive program wouldn't be pressed until the states had an opportunity to enact any state legislation that may be required.

April Draft Call Near Vietnam War Record

World News

Washington (AP) — The Defense Department Friday boosted draft calls close to the Vietnam war record. And it ordered inductions into the Marine Corps for the first time in two years.

These actions came as the Joint Chiefs of Staff proposed tentatively the call-up of about 50,000 National Guardsmen and reservists to rebuild forces in the United States drained by the Vietnam war.

Meanwhile, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, JCS chairman, undertook an on-the-spot survey of the situation in Vietnam, which could lead to a higher U.S. troop commitment. This, in turn, could bring bigger draft calls, a Guard-Reserve muster or both.

The Pentagon put out a call for the drafting of 48,000 men in April, the highest total in the past 18 months.

At the same time, the Defense Department raised the previously announced March draft quota from 39,000 to 41,000, all to serve in the Army.

The April call is only slightly below the Vietnam record of 49,200 drafted in October, 1966.

The Marines, who never have liked using draftees, will get 4,000 of them in April. It is the first Marine use of the draft since March, 1966.

Shortage Expected

This is because the Marines do not expect to be able to get enough voluntary enlistments to replace about 19,000 men inducted in late 1965 and early 1966.

The rising draft quotas reflect the aftereffects of the big buildup in manpower which began in late summer and fall of 1965.

After President Johnson ordered the huge U.S. troop commitment in Vietnam in mid-1965, draft quotas were increased to provide the additional manpower.

Draftees pulled in then and in the following months are now finishing out their two-year periods of duty.

Defense officials have said they anticipated draft calls this year to reach a total more than 70,000 above last year's intake of 230,000

* * *

Nebraska's Quota 295

The Defense Department called Friday for a Nebraska draft in April of 295 men—the second highest quota since the Vietnam war started.

Lt. Gen. Guy N. Henninger, state Selective Service director, said most of the draftees will go into the Army.

The largest previous call during the Vietnam war was in December, 1965, when 296 Nebraskans were drafted. Henninger said he expects no problem in filling the latest quota.

The quota of 295 compares with a call of 245 in March, 147 in February, 213 in January, 117 in December and 146 in November.

The March call had been the largest in 17 months.

Seoul Expects Release Of Crew In 2 Months

● New York Times Service

Seoul—South Korean intelligence authorities estimate that North Korea will hold the crew of the captured United States electronic surveillance ship Pueblo for another two months and possibly longer in order to extract as much information as possible before releasing them.

The estimate is based on expert knowledge of interrogation techniques and on political developments in Pyongyang since the ship was seized by North Korean patrol craft on Jan. 23.

"It would be unrealistic to expect the North Koreans to release the Pueblo crew before they were satisfied that no more information was to be obtained," said an officer in the South Korean intelligence service.

From their own experience with Communist prisoners and defectors from the North the South Koreans calculate that it takes up to six months of continual interrogation to exhaust the possibilities of getting more information from an individual.

Four Officers Join Lincoln Police Force

Four new police officers join the Lincoln Police Department this weekend. Ceremonies at 10 a.m. Saturday will mark their graduation from the department's basic training course.

The new officers are Michael Lamson, 21, of 5335 Colfax; Thomas Neal, 35, of 8016 E. Avon; Kenneth Nicholson, 24, of 1142 K; and Peter Spanggaard, 21, of 2143 Lake.

They begin a six-month probationary period Sunday evening at 10:30 when they first report for duty. Basic training ended Friday evening.

"All four will be assigned as regular foot patrolmen," said personnel officer Sgt. Paul Spahn.

Spahn noted that addition of the new officers brings to 144 the number of officers on the force. That is four short of authorized strength.

$30,000 Asked In Suit Charging Pipe Dangerous

Edith Crosswhite filed a $30,000 damage suit in Lancaster District Court Friday against the City of Lincoln and owners of property along the west side of 11th between L and M in connection with a fall Dec. 6, 1967.

The plaintiff alleges that along this street there is a "dangerously protruding pipe or valve sticking up several inches above the sidewalk."

She contends that the pipe had been installed jointly by the city and the landowners, Dean C. and Dorothy Schied, Marjy Milliken and Clara Empkey, for the purpose of furnishing water service to the property.

The plaintiff alleges negligence on the part of the defendants in that they were aware of the existence of the "dangerous obstruction" which caused her to fall and be thrown "violently to the sidewalk," and resulted in her sustaining multiple injuries.

Royal Couple Is Announced At NU Follies

Sid Logemann of Bennington and Mimi Rose of Rolling Hills, Ill., were named Outstanding Collegiate Man and Ideal Nebraska Coed at the University of Nebraska Coed Follies Friday at Pershing Auditorium.

Logemann, a junior, is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin H. Logemann.

Miss Rose, also a junior, is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority and is second vice president of the NU student body. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Rose.

The two were selected for the titles, conferred annually at the Associated Women's Students-sponsored follies, by an interviewing board. Fourteen other NU juniors also competed for the honor.

A follies skit called "Kamellot or 1001 Arabian Fights," staged by Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, won first place in the skit competition.

Second place winner was the Pound Residence Hall skit, "A City of Two Tales."

The skits competed with four others, all reflecting an international theme "Retro in Expo."

The winners in the travelers act talent division were Linda Riggs of Lincoln and Peggy Rees of Omaha.

'Johnson Has No Plan Now For Call-Ups'

Austin, Tex. (UPI) — The White House said Friday President Johnson has no formal plan at the moment for further reserve call-ups as part of any new U.S. troop buildup in Vietnam.

Questioned sharply on reports that the President had received a formal request from the Joint Chiefs of Staff for an additional 50,000 reservists, White House press secretary George Christian said:

"There has been no submission to the President of any mobilization plan at this point. Certainly no decision has been reached."

There were a growing number of published reports Friday that the joint chiefs had submitted a formal request to Johnson for 50,000 reservists now and the placement of another 130,000 men on standby for possible further callups for Vietnam.

PROLIFIC WRITER . . . Fannie Hurst.

Fannie Hurst, 78, Dies; Author Of 'Back Street'

New York (AP) — Author Fannie Hurst, whose pursuit of a childhood ambition to write made her one of America's best known novelists, died Friday after a brief illness. She was 78.

Perhaps her best known novel was "Back Street" — the story of a woman who devoted her life as mistress to a married man. Actress Irene Dunne portrayed the heroine in a motion picture, which still is seen on television late shows.

"Nothing really mattered to me except writing," Miss Hurst once said.

2 New Works

She died in her triplex apartment on West 67th Street, overlooking Central Park. With her was her friend and her companion for the past decade, Mrs. Sally Maguire.

Before her death, Miss Hurst had delivered two new manuscripts to her publishers. One was entitled "Lonely Is Only a Word." The other bore no title.

Besides novels, Miss Hurst had written short stories, plays and essays. On at least one occasion she covered a murder trial as a special newspaper correspondent.

Flower Trademark

Her personal trademark was the calla lily — the flower she loved best. She always wore one, as part of whatever costume she had on. Once she denied to an autograph hunter that she was Fannie Hurst. The other person rudely jerked Miss Hurst's coat back, spotted the inevitable lily, thrust out the autograph book and exlaimed: "I knew I was right."

Early in the history of the Soviet Union, Miss Hurst visited Russia and interviewed Leon Trotsky in his Kremlin office. He astonished her by reciting from memory passages of her novel "Lummox" — her favorite along with "Back Street."

"Is that right?" Trotsky asked during a pause.

"I don't know," replied Miss Hurst, who couldn't remember what she had written.

'Tomorrow's Book'

"I don't think I ever have read a book of mine after it was finished," she once declared. "Yesterday's book belongs to yesterday's seven million years. But tomorrow's book — there's always the passionate hope that it will be the book you always wanted to write."

A person of great vitality, Miss Hurst usually rose at 7 a.m. to walk in Central Park for an hour. Her working day in an austere workroom on the third floor of her apartment, extended from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Miss Hurst was married in 1915 to Jacques S. Danielson, a pianist and composer. The marriage was most unusual — each maintained a separate apartment and Danielson telephoned Miss Hurst when he wanted to see her. After nearly 30 years of marriage, she explained:

"It just happened to be right for us. The fact that we both are in possession of our original mates after all these years is the answer to the whole question. I think our record is rather better than most."

The marriage, which appeared in public to be most compatible, ended with Danielson's death in 1952. He left a net estate of $423,580 to Miss Hurst.

Supplies Of Refined Copper Diverted To Defense Needs

Washington (UPI) — Faced with dwindling copper supplies because of a 224-day strike, the government Friday ordered that refined copper supplies be cut off from civilian industry to meet defense needs.

The Commerce Department directed U.S. copper producers to "accept all government defense orders for refined copper and to withhold delivery of all nondefense orders."

At the same time, two of the nation's largest cable fabricating companies employing 12,000 workers in 45 plants announced they will start shutting down much of their operation Monday because of the shortage of copper.

Longshoremen

The two firms — the General Cable Corp. of New York and the Okonite Co. of Passaic, N.J. — cited the refusal of longshoremen Friday to unload imported copper shipments in a show of support with the striking copper workers.

The freeze on the use of refined copper in civilian industry was ordered by Rodney L. Borum, administrator of the Commerce Department's Business and Defense Services Administration. The defense production act of 1953 was cited as authority for the action.

Officials said the order applies only to producc of refined copper from copper ore and not copper produced by remelting scrap materials.

Commerce officials estimated that the nation currently has on hand about 30% of the copper needed to meet its annual consumption of 2.6 million tons.

About 12% of the annual production goes into defense-related production, they said.

The sympathy strike by longshoremen threatened to choke off the supply of imported copper.

Boycott Error

● New York Times Service

New York — The International Longshoreman's Association began Friday a dockers' boycott of copper imports in support of the copper industry strike, but rescinded the boycott a few hours later with the explanation that it had been sent out in error.

Sen. Morton's 'Had It,' Won't Run

Washington (AP) — Weary and dejected, Republican Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky announced Friday he will not return to the Senate next year. "I've had it," he told a congressional lieutenant.

At a news conference in Louisville, Ky., Morton announced that, "for very compelling personal reasons," he will not run for a third Senate term.

"To use an old Kentucky expression, I suppose I am just plain track sore," Morton said.

His decision to stand aside wrote a quiet—and startling—end to the political journey of a Republican battler. Morton was a politician of direct action and plain talk.

"It is not the coming election that concerns me but the challenge and responsibility of a six-year term," the 60-year-old senator said.

Morton was considered undefeatable in a Kentucky re-election campaign.

An associate said weariness, dejection and a feeling that much of his work for the Republican party and the country is coming to naught, led Morton to decide on retirement.

Man-Made River Plan Explained To WNUCC

. . . $3 Billion Project Would Benefit West Area

Alliance (AP) — The Western Nebraska United Chambers of Commerce expressed interest but took no formal action on a plan to divert surplus Missouri River basin water via a 940-mile man-made river to the parched lands of western Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

However, members of the western Nebraska organization expressed interest in recommending to Congress that a detailed $300,000 study be made of the concept proposed by R. W. Beck and Associates, a Denver, Colo., and Orlando, Fla. engineering firm.

The project would be contingent upon development of slack water navigation facilities on the Missouri River between Sioux City, Iowa, and St. Louis, Mo. The Beck firm has said the project would cost between $3 billion and $3.5 billion exclusive of power features and could be repaid from sale of irrigation water and power.

Irrigation Benefit

An engineer of the Beck firm, Mark Stenson of Denver, said the project would provide irrigation and power to communities along the Niobrara River in Nebraska and to the south at feasible prices and still retain sufficient water in the Missouri River below Fort Randall Dam in South Dakota.

The plan calls for pumping surplus Missouri River water westward up the Niobrara to the Box Butte Dam north of Hemingford, Neb. From there the water would flow south through a man-made gravity canal.

The some 225 persons from 22 western Nebraska communities were told at the banquet meeting that Nebraskans must cooperate in area efforts to preserve the available water supply if their grandchildren are to prosper in the Great Plains.

Directors of WNUCC also approved steps which may lead to the organization of a Western Economic Development Corporation (WED) to aid in development of industry and agriculture.

Eye Vision 17

The organization's new president, Ogallala Publisher Jack Pollack, called attention to Vision 17, a new organization launched for this purpose by 17 southeastern Nebraska counties.

Vision 17 will be fully explained at a meeting in Scottsbluff Tuesday and Pollock said a report on this meeting will be presented to WNUCC directors at their next meeting in Sidney.

The organization's executive committee, at the direction of the membership, unanimously passed a resolution supporting continued development of Fort Robinson as a major recreational attraction for Nebraska.

The resolution resulted from discussion of petitions now being circulated by some area ranchers asking the Game Commission to remove John Kurtz as park superintendent. No one at the meeting attended by 47 persons from 16 member communities spoke against Kurtz.

Petitions favoring Kurtz also are being circulated, the group was told.

Other officers installed along with Pollock included Robert Little of Valentine, first vice president; and Harry McKibbin of Alliance, second vice president.

LBJ's Proposed 10% Surtax Opposed By Mrs. Morrison

Omaha (AP) — Mrs. Maxine Morrison opened her campaign for the Second District Democratic Congressional nomination Friday with a departure from national administration policy.

At a news conference Mrs. Morrison indicated opposition to President Johnson's proposed 10% income surtax by saying: "We should make better use of existing tax dollars rather than increasing taxes."

She also called for better use of existing government agencies instead of creation of new ones.

Mrs. Morrison, who presided in the governor's mansion during the three terms her husband, Frank B. Morrison, headed the Nebraska state administration, said "we are shipping our tax dollars into Washington and not getting our fair share in return."

The former first lady of Nebraska named advertising man John F. Kresl, a South Omaha native, to direct her campaign, which she titled "operation opportunity." She said she will conduct an "educational program and not a propaganda program."

Albion Marine Now Reported Killed In War

Albion (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Duane Green of Albion were notified Friday that their 19-year-old son, Norman, previously reported missing, in Vietnam, now has been listed as killed in action.

Sergeant Green was reported missing Feb. 18 after an engagement at Hue. He was last seen at the base camp at Hue, where he served as an Army helicopter gunner with the First Cavalry division.

Sergeant Green had been in Vietnam since last May and was due for rotation back to the United States in about eight weeks.

He was a 1966 Albion High school graduate.

Czech Band Is Ready For Mardi Gras Hike

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Wilber — New Orleans' Canal Street is world famed for its width, but its length is what's bugging this town's young bandsmen. mile round trip.

A six-mile parade, most of it along old Canal, will face Wilber-Clatonia's Czech band Saturday night. Mardi Gras celebrants have a special name for the hoofing the "Krewe of Endymion."

Sunday the "Krewe of Zeus," will march the 63 Nebraska ambassadors over another route — lesser known but just as long. Which explains why there's been as much concentration on calisthenics as on the "Musiky, Musiky March."

"We've got that one Czech march and four polkas down pat, and I think the kids are in shape for all the walking," said director, Duane Jorgensen. Himself a Dane, the young teacher just hopes he can keep the Bohemian beat which prompted the Louisiana invitation.

Their smart Czech uniforms carefully packed, the bandsmen and eight sponsors boarded two buses Thursday night for the 2,247-mile round trip.

One Wilber family, the Charles Rezabeks, plan to make son Roy's marching something of a reunion. Their other three children —from Wilber, Grand Island and Washington, D.C. —will share in the celebration.

A $6,000 fund drive, headed by the Nebraska Czechs of Wilber and band parents, made the trip possible. There was enough left over to buy new hats for the boys and head bands for the girls.

"The kids have put a lot into this besides regular practice," Jorgensen said. "They've had car washes and painted bus signs and some of them made a beautiful banner to precede the band. New Orleans will know Wilber is there, and we hope for all 12 miles."

Nebraska's Only Railroad Tunnel Built During Rough Days In West

Belmont (AP)—Eighty years ago, when they were building the Belmont tunnel, Belmont was quite a town.

"They had about 600 transients, or hoboes, work out there," recalled the late Jim Moss before his death in 1965, at the age of 93. "The work was all done by hand. They used mules and dump cars to haul the dirt away. I think it took them two years to complete it."

Still In Use

The tunnel some 20 miles south of Crawford, still is used by the Burlington Railroad. A bore through 750 feet of solid butte rock gives trains a clearance of about 21 feet. Some of the smoke jackets on the tunnel, that allowed smoke from steam engines to escape, have long since become plugged.

Again in the 1920s workmen attacked the tunnel, which had a structure of timbers to keep rocks from tumbling down on trains lumbering up a 1,000 foot grade before reaching the tunnel from the south. That job took a crew of 150 to 200 men six months, working 24 hours a day.

In the old, old days, the paydays of the gandy-dancers had to be changed to keep them out of Crawford's six saloons on the days the soldiers of Fort Robinson were there, because the two groups seldom resolved a dispute over bar stools without a little blood letting.

Visited By Calamity Jane

Calamity Jane used to come down from her haunts in South Dakota's Black Hills to trim the suckers at cards even though they earned only 25 cents an hour.

All that is gone now, along with most of the people. Windows in many of its buildings are broken; the church has been moved to a neighboring farm where it is used as a barn and the name of Belmont has been quietly omitted from a good many maps.

But the tunnel still stands, Nebraska's only railroad tunnel.

Two Persons Fatally Hurt In Accidents

By the Associated Press

Two more Nebraskans met death Friday on Nebraska's highways. The victims:

Sgt. James LeRoy Gibson, 23, Offutt Air Force Base.

Herbert B. Palmer, 42, Auburn.

The Offutt sergeant was killed early Friday when his car left U.S. 73-75 and struck a telephone pole. He was on his way home from work at the time of the accident. Sgt. Gibson was alone in his car when the accident occurred.

Sgt. Gibson was a native of Lorimor, Iowa, assigned to the 55th Operations Maintenance squadron.

Palmer was killed early Friday when his car was struck by a train at a county road crossing four miles southeast of Auburn.

Nemaha County Sheriff George Kelley said Palmer's auto was high - centered on the tracks when it was struck by a northbound Missouri Pacific freight train. Palmer was alone in the car.

Cozad Weekly Leaving Scene, Publisher Says

Cozad (AP)—The publisher of the Cozad Local announced he has decided to suspend publication.

The front-page announcement this week said whether or not the Local will resume publication at some future time is yet to be determined.

Increasing economic pressures, including a ruling that the Local's employes came under the federal wage and hour law, were cited as reasons for the suspension.

David F. Stevens Jr. is publisher of the Local, which was founded in 1889 as the Cozad Messenger.

300 Shriners Spend Friday On Business

More than 300 officers from 23 Shrine temples in the Central States Shrine Association spent Friday in business sessions dealing with legal matters, taxes, public relations and reports on Shrine hospitals.

Robert C. McCracken, potentate of the Lincoln Sesostris Temple, welcomed the delegates to the 31st annual session being held at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Saturday morning's business session will feature a talk on the Nebraska DeMolay Foundation by Walter Miller. Officers will be installed at a noon luncheon which closes the three-day meeting.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Sometimes things happen that make you wish you were not an editorial writer. But they do happen and when you are an editorial writer, you are expected to comment upon them.

Such is the case that has developed in regard to John Kurtz, superintendent of Ft. Robinson State Park. Some 300 ranchers in this western Nebraska area reportedly gathered one night this past week to set in motion a plan for indictment of Kurtz and his operation.

There are those in the area who want Kurtz fired and then there are those who want him retained. From the firing side have come sinister threats about "people in high places" and against the sportsmen who patronize the area.

★

The purpose of this article is not necessarily to defend Kurtz because we have no knowledge of the charges being brought against him. Those who want him fired still have to produce a bill of particulars against him.

But there are a few things that can be said. For one, Ft. Robinson has received more favorable comment over the years from its visitors than any other state park operation, and there are some 140 of them.

The Ft. Robinson area has always been a hot-bed of controversy among local people, those who want it developed as a recreation center and those who want it retained as a beef research center. The research center is now a thing of the past, this operation now definitely to be established at Clay Center, Neb.

But the old animosities go on, a basic conflict between use of the land for recreation and use for agriculture. Kurtz is not the most amiable fellow in the world but most people who manage to get anything done make a few enemies along the way.

★

Ranchers in the Ft. Robinson area who threaten to close their land to all hunting and fishing if Kurtz is not removed are not exactly making friends, either. They say that Kurtz has intimidated people and then they do exactly the same thing.

The conflict seen at Ft. Robinson goes on throughout the state. Farm and ranch interests to some degree have always been in conflict with the development of fishing and hunting for the average citizen.

It is most unfortunate that this is the case. Not all farmers and ranchers are this way, of course, but enough of them are to make the situation difficult and unpleasant.

We are not unaware of the other side of the story—the side showing inconsiderate and trigger-happy hunters and fishermen. There are some of these and they are as lamentable as are the hard-nosed farmers and ranchers who are intent upon sharing their land with no one under any circumstances.

★

Without some disclosure of a serious indictment of Kurtz's administration, the ranchers in the Ft. Robinson area are doing themselves no good. They are creating further animosities between themselves and residents of the state's urban areas.

The urban dweller needs the ranchers and farmers for a large part of the recreation he wants. The farmer and rancher need the urban dweller as a customer for their products.

It is a two-way street and it is most unfortunate that all people cannot recognize it as such. To date, the episode involving Kurtz is simply widening the rural-urban breach and accomplishing nothing.

We strongly suspect that if Kurtz were fired, the battle would soon be resumed in the person of someone else. The ultimate solution at Ft. Robinson and other similar places is not to be found in one or two individuals, but in an understanding and appreciation of one interest group for another.

DORIS FLEESON

The Old, Old Nixon Seeking New Trail

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon is laughing it off all over New Hampshire as he tries to hit the long trail, the old trail, the trail that is always new, to the White House.

Mountains of evidence adverse to his character have been accumulating since the start of his long political career. No matter to Nixon. Laughing it off in some way is the essence of his defense.

The evidence is harsh, ranging from character assassination to an egregious lack of sportsmanship. He meets it all the same way. He deprecates, he pleads immaturity, he sentimentalizes, he jokes. He tries to make the injured parties his partners in the charade. He seems always to be saying that it is only another jury trial, folks, and anything goes.

☆ ☆ ☆

The self-satisfaction which is Nixon's outstanding personal trait has seemingly prevented him from analyzing just how effective his technique is. He turns up in each campaign with a new set of handlers, the old ones having learned that his first convert is himself and second thoughts are out of order.

Actually he can claim some success with it only once. That was in 1952 when he parlayed his dog, Checkers, and a "good Republican cloth coat" into a defense of gifts for his expenses in Congress and so quieted presidential nominee Eisenhower's strong misgivings.

Nixon needed only that one doubter's assent. It is abundantly clear in retrospect that the American voter in 1952 had determined to vote for Eisenhower peace and prosperity and would have accepted a baboon as vice-president with him.

The fact is that even in late 1952, Nixon was widely ridiculed for the Checkers-clothcoat bit. Two years later when he applied his communist brush to West Coast Democratic Senate candidates, as he had done to gain his California foothold originally, he lost out. The Democratic nominees won and Eisenhower was faced with Democratic congressional majorities.

In 1956, President Eisenhower, who had consistently come down on the side of peace, again pulled in Nixon.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Nixon fun and games faltered in 1960 against the precise knowledge of John F. Kennedy. Two years later saw Nixon trying to unseat Gov. Pat Brown in California. That failure proved decisively that the bloom was off the rose, and disgusted California Republicans who had told Nixon not to make the race drifted to Ronald Reagan, where they still are.

In his famous outburst against the press after that defeat, Nixon foreswore politics. He succeeded only in strengthening his special credibility gap, embedded in such campaign billboards as: "Would you buy a used car from this man?"

Edwin Lahey of the Knight newspapers capsuled for posterity Nixon's problem when an Amherst student asked him to explain in one sentence why Nixon lost to Kennedy. A master of the vernacular, Lahey replied: "Because he looks like an Armenian peddling a hot rug." Nixon has worked hard to soften his heavy jowls and light his small eyes with humor.

His record as a bad loser remains. It makes him President Johnson's favorite opponent and the bogeyman of most newly successful Republican governors.

Plane Affair Flies High

The issue of the Nebraska's executive airplane does not die easily. While Gov. Norbert Tiemann has scoffed at the whole thing, Democrats have now pointed out that Nebraska is well ahead of neighboring states in the quality of aircraft furnished for its executive officers, particularly the governor.

And still left hanging are several other questions. Nothing has been done about an attorney general's opinion which clearly states that the original purchase of the nearly $216,000 aircraft that was crashed was illegal to the tune of at least $13,824.

The state was appropriated $155,500 for a new aircraft but spent $215,824 on it. It traded in an old airplane for $46,500, leaving it still $13,824 short of the purchase price. This amount was taken from the aeronautics department promotion fund in what the attorney general's office has flatly said was an illegal action.

This is hardly the kind of "political trash" which Governor Tiemann maintains it to be. Is the governor's office exempt from the appropriation dictates of the Legislature while all other agencies of government are bound by those dictates? Or will the governor get away with it simply because he is a Republican, like a majority of the Legislature?

Also unexplained is why the state's insurance carrier has decided to replace the $215,824 ruined aircraft with a 1968 model with a list price of $277,000. The carrier was liable for $216,000, the actual price of the old plane, but out of the goodness of its heart provides the state with a plane with an actual price that would seem to come out to $236,000. The $20,000 insurance company "gift" may be appreciated but is hard to understand. We have never before seen such a kind and generous insurance carrier.

The Congressman's Mistake

It's quite likely that you have never heard of Rep. Sam Steiger, Arizona Republican. What's more, you may never hear of him again—because Steiger has violated Congress' most sacred law. His colleagues are now exacting retribution which could cost him re-election.

Steiger had been asked on a radio show whether some members of Congress show up drunk. His answer indicated that some of them do. He added that "there are members of Congress you wouldn't hire to wheel a wheelbarrow."

Well, this refreshing frankness went over not at all well among his fellow congressmen.

So when Steiger introduced a bill that would transfer 20 acres of federal land in Arizona for a park for $35,000, the Congress struck.

It shouted down Steiger's bill, 202 to 138.

Ordinarily, such a measure would have sailed through Congress, for pork-barrel legislation is sure-fire. It can't miss—usually.

But since Steiger had committed the unpardonable sin of honesty, his rather small pork-barrel bill was defeated.

And now the district he represents can expect little in the way of future dams, post offices, reclamation projects and the like. The pork barrel will be empty for Steiger's constituents.

So this summer when Steiger faces his voters, he will have a tough time proving what he's done for them.

Honesty is a quality to be desired among public officials. But it's hard to win an election by pointing with pride to honesty.

And that's why you may never hear of Steiger again.

Asian Reds Following Guevara Blueprint; Strategy Aim Is To Divide U.S. Strength

(Editor's Note: Jack Anderson today reports from Hong Kong.)

HONG KONG — Communist insurrection has broken out like red measles all over Southeast Asia. It presents the harassed United States with a dozen new fronts where it may be asked to fight.

The communist strategy is to harass the United States all over the map, thereby scattering our forces: in a nutshell — to disperse and conquer. This grand design was outlined by Ernesto (Che) Guevara, the communist martyr, just before he was gunned down with a ragtag guerrilla band in the Bolivian mountains.

His blueprint for world revolution has been circulated widely among the communists of Asia. It has also been sent to Washington by Gen. Charles Bonesteel, the U.N. commander in Korea, as recommended reading.

"The general tactics of the people," wrote Guevara, "must be to hit hard and incessantly at every point of confrontation . . . We must wage a general-type action whose tactical goal will be to draw the enemy out of his surroundings, forcing him to fight in places where his living habits clash with the actual situation . . .

"In Asia, the situation is explosive, and the points of friction are not just Vietnam and Laos, where fighting is going on. Others are Cambodia, Thailand, Malaysia and, of course, Indonesia, where we cannot believe the last word has been said in spite of the destruction of the Communist party in that country."

☆ ☆ ☆

Here is how Guevara's strategy is already taking shape, country by country, in Asia:

Burma — Red Chinese advisers in civilian clothes have been slipping across the border to direct an uprising against the Burmese government. They are attempting to unite dissident Kachin and Karen rebels under the "white-flag communists," an underground organization led by Thakhin Than Tun. His deputy, Thakhin Ba Thein Tin, recently turned up in Peking where he boasted: "Our people's army is active in over 60 per cent of Burma, and we are winning one victory after another."

Cambodia—North Vietnamese troops have infiltrated into Cambodia to bolster the Kmer Serai, as the Cambodian communists are known. They control two entire provinces and many outlying villages. When Cambodia's American attitude, he received a brutal warning from Peking. In a speech monitored by the U.S., he told his people: "They (the Maoists) threaten us. When verbal threats failed, they decided to foment war in our country."

India — Communist agitators are stirring up the peasants in West Bengal to revolt against the government. Chinese infiltrators are reported to have made contact with rebellious Naga and Mizo tribesmen in Northeastern India. The Chinese also are sowing trouble in the Himalayan border states, which India is obliged by treaty to protect.

Indonesia—Several clashes have been reported in West Borneo between Chinese-led guerrillas and government troops. Meanwhile, Peking's organizers are trying to reorganize the decimated Indonesian Communist party, known there as the P.K.I.

Laos—Despite a 1962 cease-fire agreement, guaranteed by all the big powers, the Pathet Lao communists have gone on the attack again in Laos.

The Philippines — The pro-communist Huks, all but stamped out in the 1950's, have staged a comeback in the Philippines.

Thailand — North Vietnam has also sent guerrillas into Thailand to infiltrate areas heavily populted by Thais of Vietnamese descent. The Chinese have also smuggled arms to the guerrillas in South Korea. And in every Asia country, the communist underground is active. Here in Hong Kong the reds rioted in the streets but were battered down by the cool, efficient British. There is no doubt, however, that they are merely waiting to rise again.

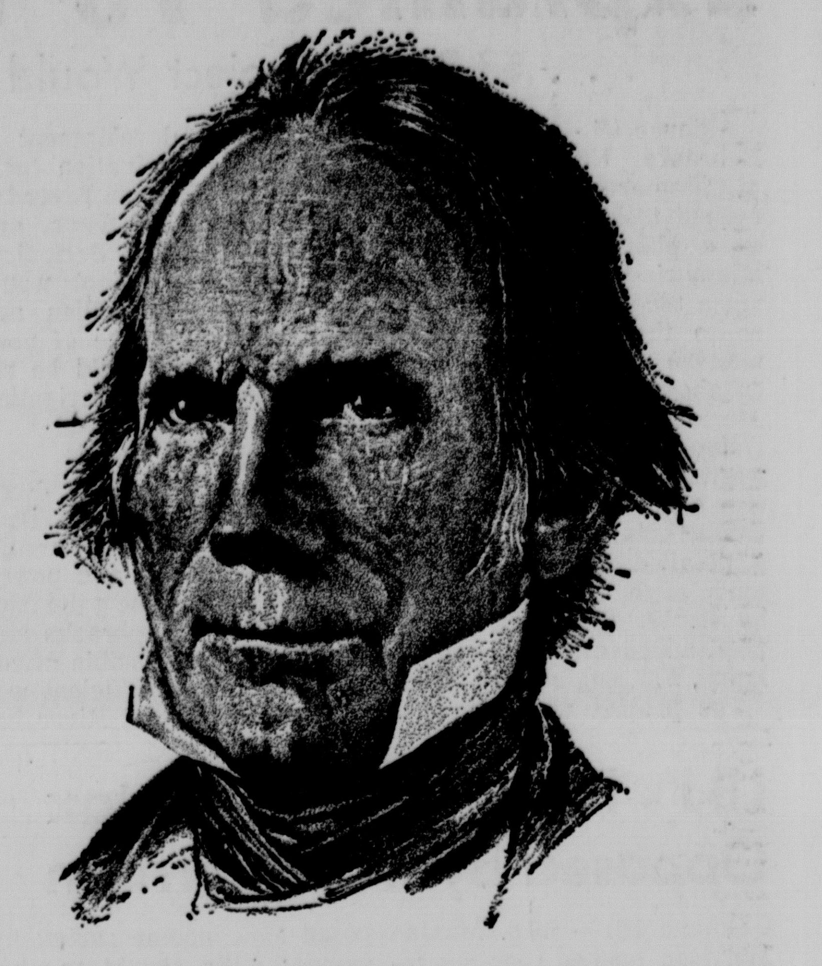
HENRY CLAY

The Loyal Opposition



Henry Clay was the only man ever to be nominated for the presidency by three different major parties. This fact alone is indicative of the political opportunism which kept him wavering between statesmanship and partisanship throughout his 40-year political career.

Clay was born and educated in Virginia, studying law under the famed George Wythe. At the age of 21, Clay moved to Lexington, Ky., where he plunged into politics and law practice. Spectacularly successful in both fields, Clay quickly became both wealthy and prominent.

☆ ☆ ☆

In 1806, he was appointed to the U.S. Senate to fill an unexpired term, and the following year he was elected to the Kentucky Legislature. Eloquent, ambitious, impetuous, Clay advocated gradual emancipation of slaves, popular election of senators and a strong expansionist and nationalist program.

In the presidential election of 1824, the first to be decided by popular voting, the candidates were John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson, William H. Crawford and Clay. Since no candidate received a majority, the House of Representatives had to choose between Adams and Jackson, the men with the most votes. As speaker of the House, Clay had great influence. He supported Adams, whose first official appointment was to make Clay secretary of state.

☆ ☆ ☆

Andrew Jackson neither forgave nor forgot. In 1832 Clay, now a National Republican instead of a Democrat-Republican, again opposed Jackson, who had defeated Adams in 1828. The major issue was the charter of the Bank of the United States. Clay was for it. Jackson was against it. Jackson won easily.

Clay now concentrated his efforts in helping to form a new party, the Whigs. After losing the nomination to William H. Harrison in 1836 and 1840, Clay was the unanimous choice of the Whigs in 1844. The annexation of Texas was the overshadowing issue. The Democratic candidate, Polk, favored annexation. Clay compromised. Polk won by the scant margin of 37,000 votes out of the 2,700,000 cast.

Although he was never a presidential candidate again, Clay returned to the Senate in 1849 to propose and get enacted into law the Compromise of 1850. This is generally considered his crowning achievement.

Wahoo 'Invasion'

Lincoln, Neb.

Assuming that we can trust the newspaper account of it, on February 19, 1968, a curious experiment took place in the high school at Wahoo. Led and directed by Professor Robert Wiseman of John F. Kennedy College, political science majors of the college "invaded" the Wahoo High School establishment a "totalitarian communist regime" as it is supposed to operate in the educational systems of the communist countries. The political science majors of the college, dressed in uniforms and carrying "billy-clubs," pushed the high school students around, ordered them not to smile, made them call the budding dictators "sir," and squelched back-talk. The principlal of the school, K. P. Ackermann, and the teachers condoned or at least went along with the project.

Mr. Wiseman stated that the idea had two basic aims: "(1) to learn the initial reaction of persons stripped of their democratic rights and replaced by a totalitarian system," and (2) to give the students a look at communism and to show them that "it's not funny."

We would agree that the first objective is at least marginally important and that the second objective is quite important. But we do not believe that either objective can be accomplished in the manner in which they were attempted in Wahoo.

Mr. Wiseman's leadership nothwithstanding, the "experiment" certainly did not show what it is like to go to school under communism. Only a person totally lacking in knowledge of communism and of the Russian educational system could possibly accept the fact that children are not allowed to smile, or that they are shoved around by sadistic guards, or that they are interrogated under continual harassment. Quite the contrary, the subtle, psychological pressures for conformity in the communist educational systems are based almost solely on peer group pressure and not on force. Nor does the general political system under communism operate as the "experimenters" would have us believe. Whether we like it or not, large numbers of people who live under communist regimes approve of the general outlines of such systems and approve of the advances in industrialization, social welfare and the advancement of education that are taking place under them. The method used by the JFK students is simply not necessary in the communist systems to maintain general order.

If Mr. Wiseman were just another member of the community and wanted to believe the things that he does about communism, we would think him rather silly and let it go at that. But he appears to be using his position to perpetrate a compulsive social myth, and in doing so, he is cheating the students at Wahoo High and at JFK. People take action on the basis of their ideas about other people, and wrong ideas lead to wrong actions, wrong in the sense that they do not lead to the results one expects to achieve. Students who attempted to refute anti-democratic arguments on the basis of their experience at Wahoo would find themselves in hot water immediately. When their arguments are shown to be factually incorrect, they will have to resort to emotional arguments, and these are rarely if ever effective. In other words, the Wahoo experience is very unlikely to be an effective defense against a dedicated communist. Furthermore, some of these students may be in policy-making positions in government, and all of them will be asked to approve government policies by voting for or against various candidates. The policies they choose will simply not be effective if they are based on a bed-time horror story rather than on a realistic picture of how communist systems operate. In order to evaluate a system usefully, students must first understand it correctly.

A more interesting experiment would be to find out what educators and administrators across Nebraska thought of this project. It is possible that people who reacted favorably to the project believe they are being patriotic. If patriotism means developing an unreasoned hatred of another people, then they are being patriotic. In a more basic sense, however, we believe they are being profoundly unpatriotic by giving students information which will not help them defend the ideals for which America stands.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Reader Is Sick Of Do-Gooders

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "I get sick of do-gooders who tell us what's best for oldsters. There were two old maids in our community who lived for decades in a shack near the railroad tracks. Then a welfare committee condemned their dwelling and moved them against their will to the county home where one died within a month and the other lost her mind. I think we should let older people live as they choose."

A. — If we did a lot of people would howl that we're neglecting the aged. A community with conscience and a sense of humanity will strive to eliminate slum-like dwellings and see to it that elders live with at least minimum standards of decency and comfort.

Q. — "You're always harping about the need for older people to work and keep busy. But hasn't anyone told you that the purpose of the Social Security program was to take older people out of the labor force as to make room for younger people?"

A. — It's true that when Social Security was launched back in depression days economists hailed it would encourage older people to retire, thus making more jobs for youngsters. But in our current era of prosperity there are plenty of jobs for younger people without putting elders to pasture. Contrary to previous beliefs, we're finding that most older people need to work if they are to be happy and contented.

Q. — "What's your advice for middle-agers with families who get the yen to pull up stakes and start all over again somewhere else? For several years now my wife and I, both 44, have been dissatisfied. I make good money as a jewelry salesman, but I travel half the time. We live in a five-room city apartment that costs more rent per year than my Dad made in salary. The only time we see grass and trees is when we visit the park. We couldn't wait to leave the small town where we grew up. But now we think we'd like to move back and start a little business — even if it means taking a big cut in income. What do you think?"

A. — It's a free country and anyone who dislikes his circumstances can easily change them. With your sales experience you can make a living anywhere. Now that you've experienced big-city life, perhaps you're emotionally equipped to return to your hometown and really appreciate what it has to offer. If you've thought it through carefully, go ahead.

Romans Files For GOP Delegate

Young Republican State Chairman Ronald Romans of Ralston filed Friday as an at-large candidate for delegate to the Republican national convention committed to former Vice President Richard Nixon.

Romans was an alternate delegate from the Second Congressional District in 1964.

"I believe Dick Nixon will win the presidency next November," Romans said.

"He's the most experienced and best-qualified candidate both from the international and domestic point of view. He'll win strong in Nebraska next May and go on to victory in the November election."

Bonn — Under legal protection in West Germany's nature - conservation program are 40,000 natural monuments; 890 national parks, natural reserves and sanctuaries, together comprising 1 per cent of the federal republic's territory; and 6,180 zones of landscape conservation, together making up 13.5% of the republic's territory.

Green Files As Candidate For Congress

Roger L. Green of Scottsbluff, an economics and political science instructor at Scotts Bluff Junior College, Friday filed the necessary papers with the secretary of state as a Republican candidate for Congress from the Third District.

Incumbent Dave Martin of Kearney also is expected to file for nomination in the May 14 primary.

Green is a Bayard native.

Also filing Friday were:

—Virgil L. Berryman of Cozad as a delegate at large to the Democratic National Convention pledged to President Johnson.

—Sam Jensen of Omaha as an uncommitted alternate delegate at large to the Republican National Convention.

—Willard L. Hoyt of Culbertson as director of the McCook Public Power District Subdivision 8.

—Lawrence F. Saunders of Holbrook as director of the Twin Valleys Public Power District Subdivision 3.

NU Picks Colwell To Head International Programs

Omaha—A Nebraska rancher and stockman, Dr. William E. Colwell, Friday was named by the University of Nebraska Board of Regents as dean of NU's international programs.

Colwell, chairman of the department of agronomy and director of research at the University of North Carolina 1942-57, will succeed resigning dean Dr. Adam C. Breckenridge Sept. 1.

Breckenridge resigned as NU dean of faculties two years ago, announcing that he would gradually move out of the NU administration to return to teaching in the political science department.

Breckenridge said Friday that he will take a year's leave of absence from NU before beginning teaching.

Colwell, 1964 democratic candidate for Congress from the Third District, is now serving as chief of the NU agricultural education program in Bogota, Colombia.

He was a member of the study team that advised setting up the Colombia program three years ago. In the new post as dean, Colwell, who ranches near Hay Springs, will be in charge of the entire Colombia program and of a similar program in Turkey.

Splinter Chairman

In other personnel action Thursday the Regents named Dr. William E. Splinter chairmand of the department of agricultural engineering, two new members to the College of Medicine and a new staff member at the North Platte agricultural experiment station.

Splinter, a staff member at North Carolina State University, will succeed Dr. Robert W. Klein July 1.

The new College of Medicine staff members are Dr. Ernest O. Jones, named associate progessor of radiology in biophysics, and Dr. Charles T. Yarington, Jr., named associate professor and chairman of the department of ear, nose and throat speciality.

Jones is now with the U.S. Army Walter Reed Institute of Research in Washington. Yarington is currently with the West Virginia University Medical School.

Dr. Roger D. Uhlinger, a native of North Platte, was named horticulturist at the North Platte experiment station.

Uhlinger has been with the U.S. Department of Agruculture.

NU To Build In Omaha For Research Animals

Omaha—The University of Nebraska will build a $750,000 home for animals used in research at the Eppley Cancer Institute, NU's Board of Regents announced Friday.

The building, technically called a vivarium, will be financed with a grant from the Eugene C. Eppley Foundation.

The vivarium will house small animals in glass-enclosed observing areas.

The building, to be two-stories with 23,000 square feet, will have special air filtering equipment to prevent contamination of materials and the animals and to eliminate odors.

Facilities

Facilities for breeding the animals, which will be used by an environmental cancer research team headed by Dr. Philippe Shubik, are being arranged at the Mead agricultural experiment station.

The regents Friday also named a committee to study the impact of past, present and future acquisitions of property east of the city campus.

There has been some controversy in recent weeks over NU's acquisition of private homes in the area around 20th and Vine.

George Hancock, real estate negotiator for the university, said all land purchases made by NU so far in the area have been on a voluntary basis, with contact with the university initiated by the property owner.

Chairman Named

The regents named Dr. Richard C. Guilford, director of the graduate school of social work, chairman of the committee.

The board also Friday accepted low bids totaling $672-206 for construction of a music recital hall.

M. W. Construction Co. of Lincoln was awarded the general contract for the building, which is the second stage in NU plans for new facilities for the music department.

The hall will be built at 11th and R, on the site of the demolished old music building and next door to the new music building, which was completed last spring.

In other action, the regents:

—Accepted a low bid of $12,650 of Picker Nuclear Corp., Des Moines, Iowa for equipment at the College of Medicine.

—Accepted low bids totaling $97,735 for equipment for chemistry labs.

—Accepted a low bid of $30,232.70 of Penco Products Oaks, Penn., for equipment in the women's physical education building.

Businessmen Urged To Try New Ways Of Hiring Negro

The editor of Nebraska's only Negro-owned newspaper told an audience of Lincoln businessmen and prospective employes Friday that "because times are changing and because of old patterns" they must seek new methods of hiring Negroes.

Mrs. Mildred Brown, editor of the Omaha Star, was at the Quinn Chapel to conduct a work seminar as a part of a week-long commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the African Methodist Episcopal church.

She suggested to one local businessman who had not been able to attract Negro job applicants that he try advertising in a Negro publication.

'Only Way'

"That's the only way you can say to the Negro applicant 'You're welcome'," Mrs. Brown said. She said that because of old discrimination patterns Negroes do not apply frequently for jobs with white employers.

During the seminar representatives of about 10 Lincoln businesses and employment offices had the opportunity to describe qualifications for job applicants.

"You have demonstrated by coming here that you have the right attitude," Mrs. Brown said.

Several of the local businessmen expressed a desire to hire Negro job applicants, but most said that they had only a few apply.

Make Effort

But several members of the audience, including Mrs. Brown, expressed the desire that business make an effort to find qualified Negro employes rather than waiting for them to apply.

"A part of the reason these youngsters have not applied is that they have lived so long in an environment which has nullified their ambitions," said State Sen. Edward W. Danner of Omaha.

"If employment is as abundant in Lincoln as I have heard this evening, then I would urge you to go home and tell your friends about it," Sen. Danner said.

Nothing Free

But he told the youth in the audience they should not be looking for something for nothing.

"America owes every individual an opportunity," Danner said, "and one of the best ways to take advantage of it is to stay in school and get some college."

But he also cautioned employers: "We recognize that Negro conditions are improving. We recognize that you have problems. But employers have to be patient."

"I think as you make opportunities available other youngsters who come behind will be motivated to apply for jobs," Danner said.

Honor Society Elects Chapter's New President

Tommie Thompson of 1951 Euclid has been elected president of the University of Nebraska chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma, a business administration national scholarship honor society.

Other officers named included Prof. William Dick, executive vice president, and Prof. Virginia Corgan, secretary-treasurer.

The chapter was formed in 1924 and has initiated more than 55,000 members.

NU Grad Student Loss Is Potentially Hundreds

A special survey at the University of Nebraska has revealed a potential loss of several hundred graduate students from earlier anticipated enrollment in the fall of 1968.

The reduction would come as a result of current draft regulations. The survey was made by the Graduate College and the Office of Institutional Research.

"It is difficult to accurately predict the impact of the Selective Service regulations on next fall's Graduate College enrollment," said Harry S. Allen, director of institutional research. "There are so many unknowns in the picture. No one knows for sure how many of the expected graduate students will be eligible for 1-A classification by their local boards."

The graduate enrollment in the fall of 1967 was 2,631—including 1,936 men and 695 women. Earlier, the university had anticipated a slight increase next fall.

Of the current 1,336 male graduate students who might normally be expected to return in the fall of 1968, the survey shows that about 450 may be subject to 1-A classification. The remaining 880 male graduate students appear to have deferment by virtue of their status as veterans, members of the reserve, enlistments in ROTC.

The survey indicates sufficient numbers of second year and beyond graduate students should be available to provide normal supervision for laboratory sections and other areas in which graduate students normally assist in teaching.

Increasing difficulties in the academic year of 1969 and beyond, however, are possible because of the restricted input of new graduate students.

Income Tax Ban Petition Efforts Told

First reports from Lincoln County indicate that workers are "not having a bit of a problem" in gathering signatures on a petition proposing a constitutional prohibition against a state income tax, Loren Morris of North Platte said Friday.

Morris is chairman of the Nebraska Taxpayers Council, the organization sponsoring the petition drive.

Circulation of petitions began last week, Morris said, but his only reports thus far have come from his home county.

Hundreds of persons in Lincoln County have signed petitions, he said.

'Strictly Volunteers'

All the workers who are circulating petitions are "strictly volunteers," Morris said.

There is no system of payments to workers on the basis of the number of signatures they acquire, as in some earlier petition drives in Nebraska, he noted.

"This is up to the people," he said. "If they're not interested in doing this, I certainly would not be interested in paying them."

The organization has active chairmen in "practically every county," Morris said, and "hundreds of workers" gathering signatures throughout the state.

But, Morris said, he has not yet heard how things are going outside his own county.

"I would assume that everything is going along well," he noted. "You usually hear about it when things aren't going well."

The petitions propose a vote of the people in November on a constitutional amendment which would repeal the state income tax law and bar the state from future enactment of an income tax system.

Circulators are aiming for at least 60,000 signatures.

Newman Grove Man Is To Run For Legislature

Thomas C. Kennedy of Newman Grove filed Friday with the secretary of state as a candidate for the Legislature from the 21st District.

Kennedy, 53, a farmer-cattle feeder and president of the Newman Grove School Board, will oppose incumbent S. H. Brauer Sr. of Norfolk, who also has filed.

Also filing Friday was Ronald C. Romans of Ralston as a delegate at large to the Republican National Convention pledged to Richard M. Nixon.

Transplants Allowed

Paris (AP)—Regulations have been altered to permit transplants of hearts and other organs in Paris city hospitals.

Debate Tournament Coordinator's Task Difficult

By DAN DICKMEYER
Star Staff Writer

The question at the University of Nebraska intercollegiate debate tournament might not be simply, "Should the federal government guarantee a minimum annual wage to its citizens?"

A more important question might be whether all 90 debate squads from 44 Midwestern colleges can get to the right room at the right time with the right position (negative or affirmative) and the right judges.

This job of coordination is the duty of Dr. Donald Olson of the University of Nebraska Speech Department which is hosting the 28th annual event.

9 States

Colleges and universities from Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Colorado, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska are participating.

"We try to see that no school from one state debates against a school from the same state," Dr. Olson said.

And because the judges are coaches from the schools, Dr. Olson must make sure that no coach judges his own team.

More Difficult

But it's more difficult than that.

The 90 squads are divided into divisions. A senior division of 42 squads is composed of members of all college classes. The junior division has 48 teams composed of first and second year debaters only.

"We have 46 debates going at the same time in different rooms across the campus," Dr. Olson said.

8 Squads

Six preliminary elimination rounds are being held through Saturday morning. The 90 squads are reduced to eight squads which will compete Saturday afternoon in quarter and semi-finals and the finals.

Only one other task faces Dr. Olson.

Each school has sent a team in oratory, extemporaneous speaking and interpretive reading. These events also begin with preliminary elimination and . . .

State Bar Waiting On News Rules

Nebraska State Bar Association (NSBA) officials Friday took a "wait and see" position on state adoption of proposed curbs on the release of information in criminal cases.

C. Russell Mattson of Lincoln, NSBA president, said there is no need for immediate implementation of the American Bar Association (ABA) recommendations in Nebraska.

He said the release of information by Nebraska lawyers to news media before and during a criminal trial has not been a problem.

Guidelines Urged

The ABA house of delegates earlier this week urged the nation's lawyers, judges and policemen to adopt guidelines to limit the dissemination of information about accused persons.

George Turner of Lincoln, executive secretary of the NSBA, said it is now up to the NSBA membership to decide if the restrictions should be adopted in Nebraska.

He said the procedure would be for the NSBA to incorporate the limitations in its code of ethics that governs the conduct of the state's lawyers.

Any change in the NSBA's ethics code must be approved by the Nebraska Supreme Court before it would be binding, Turner added.

No Plans Known

Mattson knew of no immediate plans to act on the matter in Nebraska. He said most Nebraska lawyers probably want more time to study the ABA recommendations.

"I don't think there's any great problem in Nebraska that requires immediate action," he said.

Attorney John Wilson of Lincoln, who represented the NSBA at the ABA house of delegates meeting in Chicago, agreed with Mattson.

Wilson said he voted for adoption of the so-called Reardon Report, which sets forth the proposed information restrictions. He said he did so because the ABA committee that prepared the report had given the issue thorough study and the objective is to assure an accused person a fair trial.

Northeast YMCA Expects To Top Membership Goal

The northeast branch of the Lincoln YMCA expects to go over the top in its 1968 membership drive and the central, southeast and camp branches all reported good progress Friday.

The northeast branch had reached 85% of its goal with 756 members and funds of $9,700.

The central YMCA reported a membership of 857 with funds of $3,076 for 71% of its goal.

The southeast branch reported membership at 301 with funds of $3,487 for 58% of its goal.

Cattle Deal Suit Ruling Reversed

By Associated Press

The State Supreme Court reversed the Scotts Bluff County District Court Friday in a suit growing out of a cattle transaction.

The suit was brought originally by Austin Jordan of Montgomery, Ala., a livestock dealer and truckline operator, against Duane Butler, feedlot operator at Gering. Joined in the litigation also were Jack L. Butler of Fremont, brother of Duane, and the Nebraska Securities Co.

According to the Supreme Court review of the circumstances, Jack Butler arranged to purchase cattle from Jordan and had 200 head delivered to Duane at Gering. Jack subsequently refused to honor sight drafts paying Jordan for the cattle.

Jordan Sued

Jordan brought suit to recover, and the Nebraska Securities Co. was joined in the litigation because it had loaned Duane $17,000 on the cattle.

The Scotts Bluff District Court held that Jordan had title and right to possess the cattle and that he had a lien and is entitled to proceeds of the sale of the cattle. The district court also held that Nebraska Securities Co. had judgment against Duane Butler for $17,000 plus interest.

Duane Butler and Nebraska Securities appealed to the Supreme Court.

Majority Opinion

In a majority opinion, Supreme Court Judge Edward F. Carter wrote that while "direct evidence of fraud is fragmentary," it can only be concluded that "the transaction reeks with fraud."

"It was clearly the intention of Jack and Duane Butler that Jack would buy the cattle, turn them over to Duane . . . for the amount that they could be mortgaged, and then refuse to pay for the cattle," the opinion said.

The Supreme Court held that the securities company has a first lien on $19,982 held by the district court as cattle sale proceeds, to the extent of the securities company lien, and the balance, if any, should go to Jordan. The court held Jordan is entitled to judgment against Jack and Duane Butler for the amount of the sale price of the cattle sold to Jack, together with interest and costs.

Dissenting in part were Judges Leslie Boslaugh, Robert L. Smith and Hale McCown. They held that the district court trial should have been postponed because Duane Butler was ill and could not attend. They also disagreed with the majority finding that Duane Butler should be held personally liable for the contract price in the transaction between Jordan and Jack Butler.

MISS KATHRYN KAY GLEASON

Announcement is made this morning of the engagement of Miss Kathryn Kay Gleason, daughter of Mrs. Wilber C. Gleason of Minden, and the late Mr. Gleason, to James Sanford Auld, son of Mrs. James William Auld of Lincoln, and the late Mr. Auld.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Aug. 10.

Miss Gleason is a graduate of Bryan Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, and of Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. She presently is a predoctoral student at the University of Nebraska from where she will receive her Master's degree in experimental psychology this summer.

Mr. Auld is a graduate of the University of Nebraska from where he also received his Master's degree, and where he is a member of Theta Xi fraternity, Psi Chi, Pi Delta Kappa, Gold Key, Gamma Lambda and Phi Mu Alpha honoraries. He has been an assistant professor at Wichita State University, and now is continuing his doctoral studies in educational psychology at the University of Nebraska.

Women Have No Appeal As Speakers

Most women are mediocre to poor public speakers, says Robert Haakenson, Ph.D., throwing a chill into any woman who fancies herself a daisy at the dais.

"But women don't have to be second-rate speakers," insists the former associate professor who has bachelor, master and doctorate degrees in speech and communication. During his career he has helped to train thousands of public speakers, among them many women who have distinguished themselves at the podium.

Dr. Haakenson is community relations manager at Smith Kline and French Laboratories, Philadelphia manufacturer of prescription medicines and other health-related products. He has responsibility for the corporation's speakers bureau, which was formed nine years ago to give the public a better understanding of the pharmaceutical industry.

"Women have a misconception about public speaking," charges Dr. Haakenson. "Their approach is artificial. They try too hard to give a platform performance, and the effect is often precious, coy, staged. Men rate better as speakers because they regard platform talks as communication—a sharing of ideas."

Dr. Haakenson, whose criticism is tempered by charm, admits that women speakers are somewhat handicapped. He points out that their voices are a full octave higher than men's, making it difficult for them to project and still seem effeminate. If women wear modish, broad-brim hats, they chance losing eye contact with the audience. Their stylish chokers, bracelets and earrings are glittering, clattering distractions.

"A man's suit is a uniform. It even has the advantage of pockets where he can keep note cards or manuscript," Dr. Haakenson explains.

"An important part of communication," says Dr. Haakenson, "is the expectation of vigor, of assertiveness. And because physical vigor is not considered ladylike, greater subtlety is required of women."

Dr. Haakenson does not deny that many women have overcome these obstacles to become prominent public speakers. His list includes art authority Aline Saarinen and Emma Guffey Miller, Democratic National Committeewoman from Pennsylvania who, at 93, can still magnetize an audience.

"It's wrong for women to be overlooked as public speakers—or to be relegated to women audiences," Dr. Haakenson asserts. "After all, women are more numerous than men, they control much of the nation's wealth, and they ought to have a message."

Dr. Haakenson believes that the vital matters of this country are in the bailiwick of women speakers: child rearing, family health and integrity, economy of the home, and critical problems such as drug abuse, runaways, and problems of cities and suburbs.

"There's no reason for women not to thunder on these subjects. They proffer great messages from intimate experience," advises the public speaking authority.

How can women become effective speakers? Dr. Haakenson suggests that they enroll in adult education courses in speech, or organize their own mutual improvement societies and let candor prevail. They should invite husbands and others to offer constructive criticism.

Is there any sure cure for stage fright? "Without repeated speaking experience, almost everyone is doomed to some trauma when he faces an audience," says Dr. Haakenson. He adds that women can bolster their self confidence by "getting on their feet during question and answer periods, and by volunteering to chair meetings and make reports."

Does Dr. Haakenson prefer to assist men in public speaking? On the contrary, he finds it an "exciting" experience to instruct a class of women, or women in a mixed class. "They view public speaking as an outlet for their creativity . . . a means of self improvement. Their eagerness is exhilarating," he says.

Eastridge Meadow Lane

suburbia

Believe it or not, this is the last weekend of February.

Which means, of course, that March, the month of lions and lambs, will soon be upon us. April and the May-flower showers won't be too far behind. In other words—spring is just around the corner!

Bundled up in your winter woolens, braving that cold February wind, you may find that fact hard to believe, and it is true that we may yet have a full winter's worth of snow in store for us. But now that it is nearly March, which makes it just a month from April, what remains of winter should be easier to bear.

(P.S. If you think that we are rushing spring just a trifle—we know of at least one downtown store that is already dressing its manequins in bikinis!)

So much for thoughts of spring for now—on to the news of suburbia which, this morning, includes a welcome to six new Meadow Lane residents.

February's unpredictable weather has been the introduction to Lincoln for Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Anderson and their family, who moved into their home at 1440 Carlos Dr. at the beginning of the month. Nebraska's weather tantrums, however, were not too great a shock to the Andersons who have been residents of Ankony, Iowa and recipients of much of the same temperatures that Lincoln has been "enjoying."

The Anderson family includes Joanie, 11; John, 9; Mark, 7, and Susan, 9 months. Mr. Anderson, by the way, is on the faculty of the College of Engineering at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Tornblom on Mulder Dr. are having a pleasant chat through today with their daughter, Claudia, who is home for a few days after the close of a quarter of school at Iowa State University at Ames. A sophomore music major, Claudia would ordinarily have another week at home, but this time she must be back in Ames by Sunday afternoon.

The special occasion is the departure on Tuesday of the Iowa State Singers, of which Claudia is a member, on the annual concert tour. The 60-member chorus, and the small instrumental group which will accompany them, will leave Ames on Feb. 27 and return on March 4. They will present concerts in such cities as Milwaukee, Chicago, and St. Louis. On March 5, the group will give its final performance of the tour back home at Ames.

We learned from Claudia—who by the way is going to be on her second tour—that half of the program will consist of contemporary numbers by modern Scandanavian composers.

News Around The Town

A day or so ago we mentioned the 'Hippiedrome' party—the fascinating name chosen by the Reveler's Club for its dinner dance this evening at the Hillcrest Country Club. This morning we have the guest list for the party, and it includes Mr. and Mrs. Louis Trzcinski, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Magee, Mrs. Catherine Hillegass, Dr. Frank McDonald, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Ludwick, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. Don Etmund, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weil of Wichita, Kan.

* * *

We hear that there are guests in town at the moment—

Dr. and Mrs. William E. Hall have as their guests their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Schafer, and their sons, William and John, who are spending several weeks in the state before moving to their new home in Murray Hill, N.J.

Dr. Schafer, a graduate of the University of Nebraska where he also received his Masters degree and is a member of Sigma Xi, was awarded his doctorate in electrical engineering earlier this month at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, Mass., where the family has been residing.

Dr. and Mrs. Schafer will leave Tuesday for Tecumseh where they visit Dr. Schafer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Schafer, before continuing to New Jersey.

Mrs. Schafer will be remembered as the former Dorothy Hall, University of Nebraska graduate and member of Delta Gamma, Mortar Board and Phi Beta Kappa.

Morning Wedding

The marriage of Miss Priscilla Mabel Peckham, daughter of Mrs. Grace Peckham of Bennet, to Joseph C. Sharpnack, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Sharpnack, took place Friday, Feb. 23, at Marysville, Kan. The 10:30 o'clock morning service was solemnized at the Marysville Lutheran Church.

The bride wore a white-brocaded silk skimmer frock in the daytime mode. Her small cap of white satin was veiled with illusion.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharpnack will make their home in Lincoln, at 1425 So. 11th.

Abby: idea is for the birds—vultures

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBEY: There is an elderly gentleman who lives on the same street where my married daughter lives. She knows him only by sight, and I understand that he's in very poor health and is rather an unfriendly person.

I won't go into details here, but I would like very much to buy his house after he passes away. I hear he plans to live there until he dies. I know that another party is also eyeing his house. How can I be sure I will be first in line to get it?

Should I go there, introduce myself, and make him an offer? I really want that house and I don't want to spoil my chances.

THINKING AHEAD

DEAR THINKING: The idea of approaching an elderly ailing, "unfriendly" homeowner with an offer to buy his home is for the birds. (The vultures.) Ask your lawyer, banker, or a real estate dealer to negotiate for you.

DEAR ABBY: The lady who signed herself "FLAT IN BACK" and wanted to know where she could find a foam rubber fanny is lucky. She has all her problems behind her.

Those forward-looking engineers in the foundation industry seem to have dedicated themselves to the proposition that "it's what's up front that counts."

Not so. A few years back, several manufacturers came out with a "falsie derriere." (One such item, appropriately named "FANCY THAT," is still on the market.)

I won't say that the demand for such an item hit bottom, but almost no one makes them anymore. So it would seem that these "bras' for the fanny were a bust.

Sincerely,
WILLIAM B. GLEESON, (Powers, Knollwood,
Hopkins, Minn.)

DEAR ABBY: Our cat is to have kittens. My wife and I disagree on whether our boy, age 4 years and 5 months, should witness this event.

We consider the child to be above average in intelligence and reasonably well-adjusted. He has already asked where babies come from. We would appreciate your opinion.

MR. AND MRS. M.

DEAR MR. AND MRS. M.: I see no reason why the boy should not witness this event. One picture is worth 10,000 words.

Opening lead — jack of hearts.

The Blackwood convention is valuable chiefly because it permits the discovery of specific rather than general values.

For example, in this hand, when North replies two notrump (13 to 15 points), South wants to know whether North has two aces and a king as part of his values. If so, he intends to bid a grand slam.

After he learns that North has both missing aces, South discovers that North has no kings. So he settles for a small slam, since it would be poor policy to bid a grand slam missing the king of trumps.

West leads a heart and South sees that even the small slam is in danger. West may have the K-J-x or K-J-x-x of spades and score two tricks.

But declarer cannot play the hand on that assumption. He must proceed on the basis that the contract is makable and devote his entire efforts to dealing with only those hands that permit the slam to be made.

Accordingly, he wins the heart and cashes the ace of spades. Fortunately, he catches the king and this permits him to later finesse the ten and make all the tricks.

The play of the ace is not just a lucky shot. It is a safety play that guarantees the contract if it is possible to make it. It protects against East's having the K-J-x-x, K-J-x, K-x-x, J-x-x, K-J, K-x, J-x-x-x, or the singleton king or jack.

If declarer started by finessing the queen and losing to the king, he might later run into a difficult guess when he led another spade from dummy and East followed low. South would then have to decide whether West's original holding was the K-J alone or the singleton king. This unpleasant situation is avoided by involking the safety play.

A Birthday Dinner

Celebrating the 52nd anniversary of the Lincoln Business and Professional Women's Club, Thursday evening, the members met for a dinner and program at Diamond Jim's.

Past presidents of the organization were given recognition, and guest speakers for the evening was Dr. Otto Hoiberg whose talk, "The Five Hundred Mile Campus," described the work and scope of the University of Nebraska extension department.

Mrs. Lila Chisholm was in charge of arrangements.

The Way Grows Much Brighter
When God Gives Us Our Marching Orders

...Keep Plodding

That's the spirit of the turtle. But he must not be kept from the race if there is to be a winner. God planned so wisely in setting us in a world of competition. No one runs his best without a competitor. We raise better corn when our neighbor tries to outdo us. Every church is better because of the church across the way. Catholics work harder and are more devout because Protestantism appeared. The Jewish polity strives, with all of us, toward a better society under God. God wants progress from all. Sometimes the faithful plodder, like the turtle, is a greater inspiration than one with more ability. May our pastor and our church grow into greater forces for good because of the faithful attendance and support of every member. May we keep plodding in wholesome competition.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

NU Cagers Seek First Win At Boulder Since 1953

Boulder, Colo. — Nebraska, loser of 14 straight games in the CU Fieldhouse here and knocked out of the Big Eight basketball race by the Buffs here two years ago, will try to change that this afternoon against Colorado in the Big Eight TV Game of The Week at 1:10 p.m.

The last Nebraska team to win here was the 1953 crew that picked up an 80-65 triumph and the Huskers have won only three of 20 here since the Buffs joined the Big Eight.

The Huskers have lost the past two games played here by seven points in each, dropping a 95-88 decision in 1966 and losing 64-57 last year, both on television.

When NU seniors Tom Baack, Stu Lantz, Jim Damm and Ron Simmons made their first appearance in varsity jerseys here, during the 1965-66 season, Nebraska faced the Buffs with an 11-1 record in the conference.

Colorado coach Sox Walseth engineered a major upset as the Buffs' Chuck Gardner hit 42 points to beat the Huskers, 95-88. Nebraska finished the season 12-2 in the Big Eight, behind Kansas.

Last year Nebraska took a National Invitational Tournament bid to the CU Fieldhouse, lost 64-57, and placed the indignant herd in second place, tied with the Huskers. Kansas won the championship.

The similarities of this meeting and those last two are uncanny: the Huskers must beat Colorado to stay in the championship race. Nebraska faces Kansas Tuesday, and a fourth loss would give the Jawhawks an undeniable edge in the race.

"We are in the same position as we have always been," says NU coach Joe Cipriano. "We have to win at Boulder and then pull together for Kansas."

Cipriano was extremely pleased with floor leadership displayed by Lantz and sophomore Tom Scantlebury against Oklahoma State in the 82-73 win Monday night.

"We will have to maintain this leadership to expect a victory at Boulder," he observes.

Nebraska is tied with Iowa State for second place in the conference with 7-3 records; Colorado is 1-9.

In Colorado's four previous Big Eight games here, all have been cliffhangers with the Buffs working for the last shot, with the score tied twice and CU behind by one point twice, and they have yet to score on that last shot.

The Buffs couldn't get off that final shot as time ran out against Kansas State and Kansas. They missed the second of a one-and-one free throw situation with six seconds left, then promptly fouled Oklahoma State which made both to win by a point.

With the score tied against Missouri, Colorado missed the final regulation shot but won in overtime.

The two teams will match shooting tandems with NU's Baack averaging 18.7 and Lantz 19.0 against CU's Pat Frink at 18.8 and Chuck Williams at 17.6.

Lincoln Fighters Stumble

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Omaha — The most valuable man in the Lincoln Golden Gloves contingent as the 35th annual Midwest Golden Gloves opened at the Civic Auditorium here Friday night turned out to be Bud Herman.

Herman made the drawing for the Lincoln team at the Friday afternoon pairings meeting and drew byes for 119-pounder Mike Wilson and 147-pounder Monte Cady, the only fighters from the Capital city to survive the Friday night wars.

Those who had to enter the ring came out losers, one of them on a questionable decision by referee Gene Buzzello, who gave McCook's Jack Frease a TKO victory over Randy Nelsen as the bell rang ending the first round.

Nelsen had carried the fight to Frease in their 165-pound bout and appeared to be in control near the end of the first round when Frease pinned him on the ropes and Buzzello mysteriously stopped the fight just as the bell sounded, much to the dismay of the crowd of 4,088.

"I wasn't hurt," Nelsen explained afterwards. "I always start slowly, but I had him in trouble a couple of times and had him hanging on.

"Sure he hit me a couple of times on the ropes just before the fight was stopped, but you're always going to get hit a few times in any fight and I wasn't hurt."

While there may have been some questions about the Nelsen loss, there was no doubt about losses suffered by 112-pounder Mike Cline or 178-pounder John Kuebler.

Kuebler, a favorite of the Omaha crowd, and a runner-up here as a 160-pounder two years ago, was knocked out by Grand Island's Lonnie Jensen with only 24 seconds left in the fifth.

The Lincoln slugger opened a cut under Jensen's right eye in the first round but was floored himself in the second round and suffered a cut over his right eye in the third.

However, Kuebler appeared to be winning the slam-bang third round and had Jensen in trouble when the KO blow came.

After missing a wild, desperation left hand, Jensen connected with a short right that dropped Kuebler in his own corner.

Referee Harley Cooper didn't bother to count, ending Kuebler's hopes of celebrating his 19th birthday today with the 178-pound championship.

Westside Has 27 Qualifiers

. . . STATE SWIM MEET

Two state records were erased and another pair tied as Omaha Westside took a giant step toward successful defense of its state high school swimming crown at the East High pool Friday afternoon.

Steve George was the first record breaker when he smashed his year-old 200-yard freestyle mark of 1:52.8 with a 1:52.2 clocking in the preliminaries.

George was also second in the 100-yard freestyle to lead 27 Warrior qualifiers into Saturday's finals.

Creighton Prep was second in qualifiers with 19, followed by Lincoln High with 17, Southeast with 14 and Omaha Burke with nine.

Lincoln High's Spencer Luedke chopped almost six seconds off the state 400-yard freestyle record when he turned in a 4:05.5. The old mark of 4:11.3 was held by Southeast's Kelly Cook who was fourth in the event in 4:17.0.

Results, Page 12

Two speedsters tied their own standards. Dick Rensch of Creighton Prep posted a :55.3 in the 100-yard butterfly which equalled the mark he set last year in Omaha.

Southeast's Stan Ewing did the same in the 100-yard breaststroke when he was timed in 1:02.0, equalling the record he set last year also.

It was difficult to evaluate performances in the preliminaries because some swimmers appeared to go only fast enough to be among the 12 qualifiers in their events.

Jim Pickerel of Northeast, however, went all out to win both the 50 and 100-yard freestyle. Jim was clocked in :22.6 in the 50, his fastest time of the season. He was only one tenth of a second off the state mark set last year by Westside's Roger Hawkins.

Pickerel won the 100 in :50.9. George, who has done a :49.9 this year, had a :51.4 in second place.

Ewing was the only other double winner of the day. He took the 200-yard individual medley in 2:06.8, which was more than four seconds faster than Scott Lewis of Creighton Prep who did 2:10.4.

There were some notable disqualifications for false starts. Omaha Benson's Mike Robson, who had done :23.4 in the 50 free this season was one and Tom Greder of Omaha North, a top 100 free threat was another.

The preliminaries produced the top 12 qualifiers from as many as 38 entries in many events for the Saturday finals which begin at 1:30 at East.

In the Friday night preliminary and semifinal diving Westside picked up three more qualifiers by placing first, fifth and sixth. The leader was Mike Dunham with 213.85 points, seven more than Omaha Benson sophomore Steve Robbins.

The top Lincoln diver was Darrell Jones of Northeast, the city champion, who was fourth.

Meet Records May Fall

. . . HUSKERS HOST ISU IN TOURNEY TUNEUP

Every record on the program appears to be in danger as the Nebraska Cornhuskers meet Iowa State in a dual track meet at Memorial Stadium this afternoon.

It will be the final tuneup for the Huskers prior to the Big Eight title chase in Kansas City on March 1-2. Field events start at 1:30 p.m., with the first running event starting at 2 p.m.

In field events, Huskers have already bettered the records in the shot put, pole vault and high jump this year. Steve Krebs has gone 6-10½ in the high jump and vaulter Boyd Epley last week set a school record by sailing 14-10½. Dennis Hagin has shot putted over 55 feet.

Husker runners have equalled or bettered every mark on the Nebraska-Cyclone record chart.

Still in question is the status of hurdler Joe Orduna, who pulled up lame after clearing the first high hurdle against Colorado.

But returning to action will be co-captain Dave Kudron, who sat out the Colorado dual, lost by the Huskers, 61-60, with a muscle pull.

Coach Frank Sevigne's Huskers are 2-1 in dual meets this year.

For the first time this year, the Cyclones will enter the pole vault event, coach Bob Lawson indicated. Until late last week there had been no vaulting facilities for the Cyclones.

Clay Stapleton, director of athletics, had a special "pit" installed on the gym floor of the Men's Gym to give the Cyclones a chance to work out in the event. Ray Emerson, Eagle Grove senior, will be the Cyclone entry.

Remodeling of the Cyclone indoor track area is far behind schedule so that the Iowa State team has had to "make-do" with just about any kind of a facility all season.

Mike Houck, who set a new Iowa State indoor mark of 4:11 for the mile last week, will be the Cyclones' best bet for a fist place. He is also entered in the 1000-yard run, another indoor record race for him, and the two mile.

LNE Defense Halts Bellevue

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

Lincoln Northeast's defense completely held Bellevue in check and the Rockets buried the Chieftans, 58-30, at Johnson Gym Friday night.

Northeast now enters next week's district play with six straight victories and a 10-6 record.

Utilizing a 1-2-2 zone for the first four minutes and the entire last half and a man-to-man otherwise, Northeast repeatedly made Bellevue fire several passes to get its shots and most of the time the Chiefs' shooters were forced into hurried, off-balanced efforts by the defensive harassment.

Bellevue made only seven buckets from the field in the first three quarters and just one in the third stanza before Northeast coach Ed Johnson sent in his reserves at the start of the final period with a 49-20 lead.

By this time Northeast held a 40-14 rebound edge, with Maury Damkroger grabbing 15.

"We probably covered up the middle pretty well," Johnson said later, "and it helped us that the Bellevue kids didn't shoot too well. I'm sure they're better than that. Everybody covered their area defensively) real well for us tonight.

"I think we're pretty well set on how we're going to play next week," he said of the current streak which culminates a season's experience of playing together for a club that lost all its starters off a state championship club.

Bellevue, playing without 17-point scorer Ed Whitehouse, sidelined with the flu, connected on only seven of 37 field attempts in three quarters and 11-42 for the game, while Northeast was 20-45 after three and 23-55 throughout. Bellevue made 16 turnovers.

Northeast led all the way except for three early ties, the last at 7-7, and led by 12-9 at the quarter as Tom Novak fired in three baskets.

Bellevue went without a bucket from the field for eight minutes in the first and second quarters and Northeast scored 10 points in a row for a 20-11 lead four minutes to halftime.

Pershing Subs Engineer Win

Hillsboro, Kan. (AP) — Playing mostly with reserves, Pershing College took an overtime victory here Friday night over Tabor, 90-81.

Pershing held comfortable leads through most of the game but foul trouble cancelled out three starters. Tabor gained a three point lead but Brent Estee's free throw tied the game in regulation play.

In the overtime Jim Tubbs hit four and substitute Bill Cohen six to hand Pershing the win.

IOC Sticks To Its Guns

© New York Times Service

By ARTHUR DALEY

New York — The cynics of this modern age are inclined to scoff at idealism as an outmoded concept. It really isn't, however, even though the tumultous happenings of the world today have blurred its image and held it up to scorn. Yet the anti-Vietnam demonstrations to some degree and the civil rights demonstrations to a far greater degree are motivated by the loftier principles of idealism.

Unshakeable over the years in its purity of purpose has been the International Olympic Committee along with its stubborn president, Avery Brundage. Never have they bowed to pressure although there have been occasions when they might have been smarter if they had.

The expedient thing to do in the case of South Africa would have been to continue the ban that kept the Republic out of the Tokyo Games. Instead, they readmitted it to the Oympic family last week and thereby created a new crisis, one that could very well wreck the international festival at Mexico City in October.

But the I.O.C. has never surrendered even a little bit of its supranationality. Before the 1936 Games at Berlin, for instance, a demand came to the committee from Adolf Hitler that it remove from its membership Dr. Theodore Lewald, a German with a distant Jewish ancestor.

"Nuts to you, Hitler," said the I.O.C. in effect. "You're not running the Olympic Games. We are. And Dr. Lewald will run them for us."

Herr Dokktor never was removed. He ran the Games because Hitler backed down, perhaps for the only time in his life.

My initial reaction was that the I.O.C. made a serious mistake in readmitting South Africa, a nation condemned throughout the world for its rigorous apartheid policies. This was an open invitation for other countries to boycott the forthcoming games, an invitation that many already have accepted. Just the other day, however, a thoughtful commentary on the New York Times editorial page questioned the wisdom of such a boycott because the Olympic fathers obtained unbelievable concessions.

For year after year the United Nations had been hammering away at the total black and white separation in South Africa without ever compelling that Republic to retreat as much as one inch. This has to be far more pressure than the I.O.C. ever could exert because the sports group has no military power, economic power or any other power. All it has is its idealism.

It proved strong enough to force South Africa closer to integrating its Olympic team than ever before. Tryouts still will be separate because the law of the land prohibits interracial competition. But committees of whites and blacks will appraise performances of the measurement sports to determine personnel while those requiring face-to-face confrontation, such as boxing, will be subject to extra tryouts outside the country.

Except for that one flaw in the setup, it will be total integration. The athletes, white and black and in between, will travel together, live together, wear identical uniforms and compete together under one flag. Admittedly it isn't 100%. But at least the I.O.C. got 90% and it sure is a lot more than the zero per cent that has been the production rate of the U.N.

It was no rare step that the I.O.C. took. An investigating team had made an exhaustive study of the situation and filed a 113-page report. It did not promise the instant everything that everyone now seems to want. But it promised a definite breach in a hitherto impenetrable wall and was influential enough to sway the I.O.C. into admitting South Africa.

Far more significant than anything else, perhaps, was the enthusiastic support the move received from South Africa's black athletes and sports officials. More than anything else this made me wonder if my initial reaction is correct and if the I.O.C. had come up with more of a solution to a nasty poblem than any other organization in the world had yet offered.

It is fashionable to malign the I.O.C. for policies that seem unreal in this pragmatic world. But it has obdurately clung to its principles. It has kept the Olympic movement above politics and absolutely free from discrimination of any description.

It slapped down Hitler when no one else dared do so. It reunited East Germany and West Germany for the 1964 Olympics, a wedding that statesmen have been unable to achieve, not even on a shotgun temporary basis.

Bored Gridders Having Fun

Boca Raton, Fla. — Alex Karras pulls off his helmet and says, "Mr. March, I don't want to be sarcastic. You are the director of this movie. You don't have to do what I say. But if you want to get a real feel of this football thing, just put on spikes for eight hours the way we've been doing." March, whose last great success was "Sacco and Vanzetti" on television, smiles coolly and backs away as scampering production assistants bawl through battery-powered megaphones, "defensive team, defensive team."

The earth trembles. From under booms and dollies and trailer trucks, sweeping aside card games, chess sets, wives and extras, the defensive team of the Detroit Lions rises. "Same bunch of nothing we've been doing for three weeks," one of them grumbles. A member of the offensive team, stripped to his blue gym shorts, with a whole tube of sun tan lotion caked on his back, looks up from a full house and says, "Try to make it good this time, huh, so we can all go for lunch." Routinely, he ducks a flying helmet.

"These guys are great," says Alan Alda, the only experienced actor on the set, sipping a coke and watching Ernie Clark, who weighs 220 pounds, stand on Bill Cottrell's face to kill time. "They have more natural presence, as a group, than many actors. They are performers in a way, used to reading each other. Constant put-ons, make believe fights. They can improvise right up to the edge of the thing and go with whatever feeling is in the air."

One of the feelings, at this moment, is boredom. When the sun comes out it is harsh and hot; when clouds slip under it, the cameras are turned off and everyone sits and waits. Three weeks ago, the Detroit Lions reported to the St. Andrews Episcopal School for Boys here in high excitement. They were going to play themselves in the movie version of George Plimpton's best-selling "Paper Lion." They were going to be stars.

"There was one scene," says John Gordy, a 32-year-old guard, "a dramatic scene that Alex March really pulled us through. He created a mood, and he made us feel anger and it worked, and it was a real thrill to do something you'd never done before. But there's an awful lot of sitting around."

ALEX KARRAS

At any given time there may be 30 to 40 Lions in town, sometimes augmented by Miami Dolphins, earning at least $381 a week, the screen actors guild minimum. Featured players such as Karras, Roger Brown and Gordy are making around $1,000 a week reliving the 1963 summer training camp when Plimpton, then a 36-year-old Harvard graduate and editor of the Paris Review, came among them to be last-string quarterback.

"An amazing thing is happening here," says Gordy. "Plimpton wanted to do well and gain our respect, and so does Alda. I mean, he's playing George, but he's also playing himself. Face it, he's a horrible football player, but he wants to get better and be part of the team and be accepted by the players."

Gordy trots out on the field as someone pleads," "Gentlemen, gentlemen, if you will," and Clark and Cottrell stop trading belly punches long enough to watch Tommy Watkins, dark glasses under his helmet, saunter up.

"Who woke that up?" says Clark.

"What is it?" says Cottrell.

"It's Jimmy Brown, why, no, it's . . . it's Jim Thorpe."

The director, March, is waving his arms, "Let's go, front four ready; one more rehearsal."

On the sidelines, a reserve looks up from his cards. "Are they running the keeper play again?

"I'm afraid so."

"Now, we're ready," calls March, but it is 1:30 p.m., and union rules proclaim this precise minute the start of lunch. Clark and Tom Nowatzke climb on the bare back of a cameraman, but Pat Studstill, the end, keeps practicing falling down. Karras roars, "Where are my glasses?"

By the time Karras finds them, the team has moved off the boiling field toward a burnt pork chop lunch. "Yes, it's true," says Karras, "I am dickering with M.G.M., 20th Century and R.K.O. I see myself as a man on horseback, in an attractive policeman's uniform, singing and playing guitars to the girl I love. The problem is finding the right girl, one beautiful enough to match my own sheer brilliance and personality. It may never happen."

Karras wipes a sheet of sweat off his rumpled face, and swigs at a coke bottle, letting most of the soda run out of his mouth and down his large stomach. "This is pretty boring, but if I wasn't here I'd be doing something boring somewhere else. I believe we should complete this film in seven years, which brings us up to 1975. As long as they can afford to make this movie, we will be here."

White Heroics Pep Hastings

With Jim White setting a blistering pace Hastings tuned up for tonight's Big Ten playoff battle against McCook by outscoring Lincoln East, 88-74, at East Friday night.

There were records broken by both clubs as the Tigers pushed their season mark to 13-3.

White, who had scored 363 points prior to Friday night, poured in 34 to shatter the Tigers' single season scoring record.

And the losing Spartans, now 1-14, were persistent and consistent enough to put a new single game scoring mark into the books. Their previous high had been 68 against Nebraska City.

Hastings couldn't shake the tenacious youngsters from East until it managed a 22-7 advantage midway in the second half to stretch a 61-53 lead to an apparently safe 83-60 advantage with 3:31 remaining.

White retired at that time, but coach Jim Smith had to call him back into action when the pressing Spartans rammed in 12 straight points to make it 83-72 with 1:25 to go.

Links Bounce To Meet Title

Lincoln High, getting a pair of wins from Jeff Johnson and a 1-2-3 sweep in the side horse, captured the Capital City District gymnastics title at Northeast Friday night.

Johnson won the floor exercise and the tumbling, first and last events on the program, and the Links had solid punch in the middle of the competition to compile 73 team points and earn 17 qualifying spots in next week's state meet.

Southeast was next in line with 53 points and 13 qualifiers. Northeast had 11 qualifiers, but managed only 26 points while East had a single qualifier and a pair of team points.

Coach Phil Sprague's Links were never headed after Vic McWilliams, Jim Ellis and Jim Guest swept the side horse competition.

John Tilts got the other win for the Links on the parallel bars.

Alex Gerard of Southeast joined Johnson as a double winner and also won the all-around competition. The Knight's standout won the still rings and horizontal bar. Hoppy Batten claimed the other title for Art Hillman's Knights as he won the trampoline.

Nats' Southpaws Coming Strong

Pompano Beach, Fla. (AP) — Sid Hudson, making a return engagement as the Washington Senators pitching coach, has been encouraged by what he has seen of the left-handed candidates in the first week of practice.

Steve Jones, obtained in a recent deal with the Chicago White Sox, and Jan Dukes, a bonus boy in last year's draft, are among the southpaws praised. Both have a history of excellent control.

Frank Bertaina, Dick Lines, Barry Moore and rookie Bob Parchem are the other left-handers in camp while the Senators also have Darold Knowles, who is on military duty.

Fourth-Quarter Burst Propels Sterling, 74-60

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Tecumseh — The Sterling Jets ripped off 13 straight points at the outset of the final quarter to snatch the District C-1 basketball crown from Tecumseh, 74-60, here Friday night.

By posting a 14-point triumph Sterling threw away the script. Every game between the top teams in this district had called for a tight battle right to the end. Thursday's district semifinals were typical. Tecumseh and Sterling each captured one-point victories. During the regular season the Jets edged T-Town, 67-66.

At the outset everyone was playing his part to perfection. In the first quarter there were five ties and the period ended knotted at 19-all.

The second stanza was another "nail-biter" although Sterling started to pull away and gained a mementary eight-point advantage at 31-23. Tecumseh came back toward the end and it was 38-34 when the teams went to the dressing room at halftime.

Midway through the third quarter, the Indians had the gap down to two, 45-43, when Cal Christline, Sterling's all-everything, led a surge that put it away.

Christline, who led all scorers with 34, meshed nine points in the closing moments of the third and eight more at the outset of the final period. The 13-point spurt zoomed the Jets to an 18-point, 65-47 lead.

Sterling coasted home from there and will now tangle with Hebron at Odell Tuesday for a state tournament berth.

Elmwood Advance To District Playoff

Weeping Water — Elmwood overcame a night of foul trouble here Friday night and advanced to the class B playoffs with a 93-74 victory over the Nebraska School of the Deaf.

The win was the seventeenth in 21 starts for the Pirates and moved them to Syracuse for next week's playoff with the winner advancing to the state tournament in Lincoln.

Elmwood is coached by Larry Horstman, the gent who won the state class D tourney while at Sprague-Martel last season.

The score was tied six times in the first half but with 4:46 to go and a 25-25 score, Bob Ferguson broke the Pirates loose as he hit for 12 points in the four minute span.

The school for the Deaf made a last ditch effort for the lead and the game early in the third quarter when it tied it up at 52-52.

Bob Rosenow picked up the slack for the Pirates in the final half as he racked up 18 of his 20 points for the night.

Elmwood used good ball control and employed a fast break which broke open the losers full court press.

Ken Eurek was the high man for Nebraska Deaf with 30 and tied Rosenow for game high.

The 22 fouls called on Elmwood was the thing which kept the School for the Deaf close as 22 of its total 74 points came from the free throw circle.

Don Ferguson chipped in 20, Mike Krass 11, and Gene Kirchhoff 10 for the Pirates. Doug Schnoor and Bob Schwisow both had 16 for the losers.

The Elmwood players rushed Coach Horstman to the showers immediately following the trophy presentation and the coach came out drenched.

"I guess that is what a fellow gets for winning and I wouldn't trade places with anyone right now," said Horstman.

Jim Clark To Battle For Australian Win

Melbourne, Australia (AP) — Jim Clark ow Scotland, in a Lotus Ford and New Zealander Chris Amon, driving a Ferrari, will battle for the lead in the Tasman Cup series when they meet in the Australian Grand Prix at Sandown Park on Sunday.

Clark leads with 33 points to Amon's 30, and with only one race remaining after Sunday's 106-mile event, the New Zealander cannot afford to finish worse than second if Clark wins.

Boys Town Rips Southeast

Omaha — The Boys Town Cowboys took a 13-9 first-quarter lead that Southeast could overtake but once and the Omaha Metro school went on for a 68-60 victory Friday night.

Boys Town built up an 11-point lead in the second quarter before Southeast came back to lead briefly in the third period. But then Boys Town put on another spurt that was enough to hand Southeast only its third loss in 16 games.

Boys Town's Tyrone Pryor scored 16 and Robert Summers 14 to pace the Cowboys, who hit 53 per cent from the field on 26 buckets and 16-25 at the line. Southeast had only 33 per cent on 23 fielders and was 14-23 on free throws.

Three Southeast players, Tom McGowan, Bruce Monson and Randy Smith, all had three fouls in the second period and four fouls in the third and had to spend several minutes on the bench but were all in action for the last period.

Southeast coach Wally McNaught said, "I think that there were probably two factors in our loss: we got beat on the boards and we probably had a lack of judgment on our offensive attack; we weren't patient enough to wait for the wide open shot and used poor judgment in our shooting."

Boys Town committed 26 turnovers to only 11 for Southeast and still won.

Smith had 18 and Tom Dietemeyer 17 for Southeast, while other scorers for the Knights were Monson 9, McCown 6, Tim Willits 4, Alan Austin 2, Bob Morton 2, and Dan Kubick 2.

Omaha South Edges Links

Omaha — Omaha South broke away in the final two minutes to hand Lincoln High a 50-43 defeat in a game plagued by poor shooting.

Both teams had such a tough time finding the basket in the first half that it ended, 16-15, in favor of South.

Neither team tried to stall in the contest, but when it was all over, the Links had connected on only 19 of 66 tries from the field, while South managed a slightly better percentage, 20-59.

Because of the poor shooting, Lincoln High was never out of the game, with South taking leads of one-to-three points until the final two minutes when the Eagles wrapped it up.

After three quarters, South held only a two-point, 30-28 lead.

Only Andy Allen's 13 points and Bob Wolfe's 12 were in the twin figures for South, while Dan McCauley of Lincoln High scored 16.

Billy Gaines AAU Champ

Oakland, Calif. (AP) — Billy Gaines, 19-year-old high school speedster, won the national AAU 60-yard championship Friday night then was ordered home with a 102 degree fever.

It was his third straight national championship.

Gaines, a student at San Jose, Calif., high, won in 6 seconds flat, one-tenth off the world record shared by several sprinters.

Mel Pender of the U.S. Army was second, and John Carlos of the Santa Clara Valley Youth Village took third. Both also was timed in 6 flat.

Gaines said he presumably picked up the flu a week ago in Russia, where he won a 50-yard dash in 5.4. He came here Thursday against his doctor's advice.

Earlier, Bob Seagren of Southern California, who holds the world indoor pole vault record at 17 feet, 1¼ inches, severly bruised his side when his pole broke during a practice vault.

Seagren declined to see a doctor and passed the opening height of 15-8, but then was forced to withdraw because of the pain.

Bruce Picks Mathis In Title Bout

Rhinebeck, N.Y. (AP)—Mike Bruce, a heavyweight who has fought and sparred with both Joe Frazier and Buster Mathis, predicted Friday that Mathis will win by a knockout in the title bout between the two unbeaten heavyweights.

NFL Thinks Of Changes For PATs

New York (AP)—The National Football League will consider eliminating the almost-automatic point after touchdown kick in 1968 pre-season games and force a scoring club to run or pass for one point from the two-yard line.

Art Modell of the Cleveland Browns, who was re-elected president of the NFL Friday, said a committee would study the proposal and report back with a recommendation at the spring meetings. If the change is adopted it will go into effect this fall for the exhibition games. Eventually, it probably would be used in regular league games.

Marc Duncan, supervisor of NFL officials, produced figures that showed 97 per cent of the point after touchdown kicks had been successful in each of the last three years. In 1967 there were 606 touchdowns and 587 successful kicks.

"It has become almost automatic," said Duncan. "We don't feel this would take anything away from any kicker, because their main job is to kick the field goal which would not be changed. We are not sure this is the answer but we are fortunate to have a pre-season schedule as a vehicle in which to try it out if it is approved."

Modell pointed out that the proposal might put the individual scoring race back into perspective.

"I think four of the five top scorers were kickers last year," said Modell.

Actually eight of the top 10 in the NFL were kickers. Jim Bakken of St. Louis, who led the league with 117 points, had a perfect record of 36 for 36 in conversions. Bruce Gossett of Los Angeles had 108, Lou Michaels of Baltimore 106, and Don Chandler of Green Bay 96. All would have finished behind Homer Jones of New York, who scored 14 touchdowns for 84 points, if the conversions had been eliminated. Gossett made 48 straight, Michaels 46 of 48 and Chandler 39 in a row.

Duncan released figures showing that in 112 league games there were 17,042 plays of which 682 (40.4 per cent) were runs, 6,405 (37.6 per cent) were passes, 549 (3.2 per cent) passer caught attempting to pass, and 3,206 (18.8 per cent) kicks. Of the kicks, 606 were conversions. In other words, the conversions which have become almost automatic, represented almost four per cent of all the plays in a game.

"I like the idea," said coach Don Shula of the Baltimore Colts. "It certainly is worth a lot of thought. It has spectacular appeal.

Vince Lombardi, retired Green Bay coach and now Packer general manager, was less enthusiastic. "I'll have to think it over some more,"

Otto Graham, Washington coach, said, "I like it very much. It would make the games much more interesting and could eliminate ties."

According to statistics of league games, the average gain on a play from the two-yard line is 1.4 yards but the touchdown scoring percentage from that point is 48.9.

The American Football League has the optional two-point conversion rule. If the ball is kicked successfully, it is a one-point conversion. If the ball is carried or passed successfully, it is a two-point conversion.

The NFL decided to continue the current four-divisional setup in 1968, as announced, with New York shifting to the Capitol Division and New Orleans moving to the Century. Both clubs would play different Western Conference opponents than last year.

Modell said the Super Bowl site would not be determined until the spring meeting. He also announced the Chicago All-Star game contract with the Chicago Tribune had been extended two more years and the Playoff runnerup Bowl at Miami would continue at least through 1969.

IOC Says No Formal Withdrawals

Lisbon, Portugal (AP) — The president of the International Olympic Committee said Friday that no Olympic group has yet formally withdrawn from the Olympic games in Mexico City later this year.

Avery Brundage, here to receive a decoration from the Portuguese government, said although various Afro-Asian countries had announced their intentions to withdraw as a result of South Africa's participation in the Games, no formal notice had been received from any Olympic organization.

"The International Olympic Committee does not maintain relations with governments, only with Olympic committees," he said. "Up until now, none of these groups has indicated there was any problem."

Brundage declared that the Olympics must live apart from all political slogans and get rid of the dollar sign.

The Games must return to their old simplicity because "no 10 days of sport competition should cost $240 million as the Grenoble Winter Games did."

He reiterated that the IOC was performing a good service to the non-white population of South Africa by allowing that country to be represented by white and black athletes performing under the same flag.

However, political organizations in 15 countries have announced their withdrawals as a protest against South Africa's racial policy.

Debut Of 'Star' Delayed By Team

San Diego, Calif. (AP) — Bill Drescher's dream of playing pro basketball was shattered Friday—at least for now. He was given a return ticket to Gainesville, Fla.

The 22-year-old Drescher arrived here Monday, confident he could play for the San Diego Rockets of the National Basketball Association.

He was given a tryout on the basis of an open letter which claimed he could be an NBA star and average 25 points a game.

However, the onetime University of Deleware performer did show some ability during four days of practice. Coach Jack McMahon invited him to attend rookie camp next June.

"Get yourself in shape and come back ready to run,"

Drescher is 6 feet 4. He still believes he has the ability, saying "I really feel that I can do everything I said in the letter."

"I thought I held my own after I got acclimated to everything," he added.

Two Prelims Juiced Friday

. . . QUESTIONS UNANSWERED

Daytona Beach, Fla. (AP) — Rain wiped out a pair of 125-mile races expected to be the world's fastest Friday and left the nation's finest stock car drivers with unanswered questions on durability and danger for the 10th annual Daytona 500 on Sunday.

The weather front, which brought tornado warnings as well as heavy showers was to pass through during the night the weather bureau forecast, and clear the way for Saturday's Permatex 300 and Sunday's $200,000 main event.

The uppermost question is whether tires and machinery will withstand the unprecedented 189 mile an hour lap speeds under racing conditions.

Drivers, car owners and accessory manufacturers tested at 185 m.p.h. tops and hopes to learn in the 125-mile preliminaries what would happen in view of the unexpected higher level.

Now they must take their lessons, and their chances, in the main event with $200,000 prize money at stake.

Rain was intermittent through Friday afternoon, leaving a crowd of 20,000 sitting, waiting and hoping.

Cale Yarborough of Charlotte, N.C., and the 26 others lined up behind his 1968 Mercury Cyclone, drove a series of track-drying laps.

Then the second-race field of 28 cars headed by Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., in a 1968 Plymouth Road Runner tried a few laps.

There was even an accident. Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., brushed the concrete outside wall with his 1968 Ford Torino when a wheel bearing broke.

But, a new shower thwarted efforts to race and eventually the program was canceled. Sunday's starting order will be based on qualifying times.

A field of 50 cars will compete in the 500-mile over the 2.5-mile Daytona International Speedway, starting at 12:30 p.m. EST. If the weather is good, 100,000 people are expected, and others will see it on closed circuit television at arenas and theaters throughout this country, Canada, Europe and Japan.

Yarborough, who set a qualifying record of 189.222 m.p.h., and Petty, who was closed behind at 189.055, will start in the front row.

Those scheduled to run in the first 125-miler will line up in the inside row. Those scheduled for the second 125-miler will occupy the outside line.

In addition to the front row pair favorites include Yarborough's Mercury teammates, Lee Roy Yarbrough of Columbia, S.C.; Dewayne "Tiny" Lund of Cross, S.C., and defending champion Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa.

A Ford Torinto factory team headed by David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C.; Indianapolis 500 champ A. J. Foyt of Houston; and the Allison brothers, Bobby and Donnie, of Hueytown, Ala., are also contenders.

Buddy Baker of Charlotte, Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., and Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., have outside chances in Dodge Chargers. So do Paul Goldsmith of Munster, Ind.; Charlie Gotzbach of Georgetown, Ind., and Darel Dieringer of Charlotte in Plymouths.

A race beamed at giving credit to the mechanics, the Permatex 300 for 1960-65 model sportsman type stock cars, will be run Saturday at 1 p.m. EST.

Bunkie Blackburn of Daytona Beach has the pole in that one with a 1965 Dodge he qualified at 175.903 m.p.h. Beside him is Lund in a 1961 Ford at 173.644.

Two Schools In Cage Meet

Kansas City (AP) — Lincoln University of Jefferson City, Mo., and McNeese State College of Lake Charles, La., were added today to the entry list for the National Collegiate Athletic Association college division basketball tournament.

That brought entries to a total of 24 with one additional school pondering an invitation.

McNeese was also named host for the Southwest regional tournament March 8-9 and assigned to the site in addition to McNeese will be Pan American of Edinburg, Tex., Trinity University of San Antonio, Tex., and Jackson State College of Jackson, Miss.

Winners of the regional tournaments advance to the finals at Evansville, Ind., March 13-14-15.

An NCAA spokesman said the rest of the 11 tournament spots will be filled before March 1.

Five conference champions automatically qualify for the tournament. They are the representatives from both the northern and the southern divisions of the Middle Atlantic Conference, the Mason-Dixon Conference, the North Central Conference, and the California Collegiate Athletic Association.

The other teams already in the tournament:

Assumption College of Worcester, Mass.; University of Bridgeport, Mass.; American International College, Springfield, Mass.; University of Rochester, N.Y.; State University College at Buffalo, N.Y.; Philadelphia College of Textile Science; Cheney State College of Pennsylvania; Ashland College of Ohio; Kentucky Wesleyan College, Owensboro, Ky.; Union University, Jackson, Tenn.; Jackson, State College, Jackson, Miss.; University of Evansville, Evansville, Ind.; Illinois State, Normal, Ill.; Indiana State University, Terra Haute, Ind.; Southwest Missouri State of Springfield, Mo.; Trinity University, San Antonio, Tex. and Pan American College, Edinburg, Tex.

Doane Defeats Midland, 82-72

Crete — Lesley Grant and Dennis Kruszka hit 14 and 12 points, respectively, in the second half to break open a close game and lift Doane College to an 82-72 victory over Midland here Friday night.

The host Doane club had trailed, 37-34, in the close first half which saw the score knotted eight times.

The game was the season finale for Doane and sends the Tigers into the NAIA District 11 playoffs against Wayne with a 21-4 regular-season record.

The Tigers host the first game in the best two-out-of-three playoff series Thursday. The next one or two games will be at Wayne the following Saturday and Monday.

Plainsmen Start Bid For .500

PROBABLE STARTERS

Regis (7-15)	Pos.	(10-12) Wesleyan
Schraeder (6-3)	F	(6-3) D. Hahn
Fortney (6-5)	F	(6-7) James
O'Donnell (6-7)	C	(6-7) B. Hahn
Organ (6-3)	G	(6-3 Brown
Abeyta (6-1)	G	(5-9) Busch

The task, while not awesome, is nevertheless formidable.

Nebraska Wesleyan, with only three basketball games remaining, must win them all to finish over .500 for the season. The first test is tonight against Regis.

Tipoff is 7:30 p.m. at Taylor Gym.

The Plainsmen will be trying to snap a losing streak that grew to four games after Wednesday's 94-87 loss to Doane. After the Regis contest, Wesleyan players will board a train Sunday morning and head for Tulsa, Okla., where they'll meet Oral Roberts Monday.

NWU's season finale is set Thursday night against Dana at Taylor Gym.

"We've played pretty good ball the last four games," says coach Irv Peterson, "but we just haven't been able to play quite good enough to win."

Saturday's game with the Rangers will be a rematch of a battle just two weeks ago in Denver. Regis won that one, 90-84.

Wesleyan faces the contest with the prospect of playing without high scorer Kenny Ahl. The 5-10 junior suffered an inflamed tendon in his left ankle in the Doane game and may not see much action Saturday.

"I don't think I'll start Kenny," Peterson said. "His ankle is still inflamed and he could be out for the rest of the season if he came down hard on it."

More therapy was scheduled for Ahl Saturday and Peterson noted he wouldn't know until just before game time if his top point producer would play.

"If Ahl does play," admitted Pete, "he certainly won't be at full speed."

Three Cincinnati Reds Sign 1968 Contracts

Cincinnati (AP)—Pitcher Milt Pappas, catcher Jim Schaffer, and outfielder Alex Johnson Friday signed 1968 contracts with the Cincinnati Reds. Terms were not disclosed.

The 28-year-old Pappas posted a 16-13 mark with Cincinnati last season.

—SANTA ANITA—

Tobin Bronze Race Favorite

Arcadia, Calif. (AP)—Topped by Tobin Bronze, the American-owned champion from Australia, a field of 10 older horses was entered Friday in the $75,000-added San Antonio Stakes at Santa Anita today.

The big horse from Down Under, a hadsome 6-year-old chestnut, was listed as a 7-5 favorite on the track's morning line.

The distance is 1⅛ miles on the main dirt track, and it is the track that may pose the only problem for Tobin Bronze. He has never raced on a dirt course.

The horse's trainer, Charley Whittingham, said at entry time however, "I think he'll handle the track all right."

Tobin Bronze's chief challenger in pre-race speculation appears to be Most Host, who vaulted into prominence when he upset Damascus, the 1967 Horse of the Year, in the Charles H. Strub Stakes here Feb. 3.

Most Host was quoted as the second choice at 5-2, while a third contender, Rising Market, was quoted at 7-2.

Others entered were Suteki, O'Hara, Postage, Quicken Tree, Zulu Lad, Mr. Right and Kings Favor.

If all 10 start, the gross purse will be $88,000 and the winner will earn $54,250.

Post time is about 4:45 p.m. 6:45 p.m. CST.

A crowd of 50,000 is expected. Sunny weather and a fast track were forecast.

Tobin Bronze will have his regular rider of recent races, Manuel Ycaza, in the saddle. The impost for both Tobin Bronze and Most Host is 118 which, in the case of the Aussie runner at least, should be no concern. In the space of three weeks last October he ran under weights of 139, 138 and 136 at distances ranging from six furlongs to 1½ miles.

Tobin Bronze was purchased by William Breliant and Irving Litz, Beverly Hills, Calif., businessmen, last fall for a reported $400.000.

The horse has won only one race in three starts in this country. It came last Saturday in a 6½ furlong sprint on the turf by 2 lengths.

Last Nov. 11 Tobin Bronze, newly arrived from Austrialia, ran third to Fort Marcy and Damascus in the Washington, D.C. International. He dropped his first start at Santa Anita to Zip Pocket when Ycaza lost a stirrup turning into the stretch.

The San Antonio Stakes is the last major test leading up to Santa Anita's famed $100,000-added Santa Anita Handicap March 9, which is the main target of Tobin Bronze and his rivals Saturday.

Stu Milier Set For 17th Year

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Stu Miller, a 40-year-old relief pitcher coming off his worst year in the major leagues has agreed to American League contract terms with the Baltimore Orioles.

Miller accepted the club's offer by telephone Thursday from his home in San Carlos, Calif.

The veteran right-hander, who was 3-10 last year, with eight saves, goes into his 17th year in the majors.

—BIRDIES ABOUND—

Douglass, Host Pro Share Tucson Lead

Tucson, Ariz. (AP) — Host pro Bill Ogden and Dale Douglass ended second-round play Friday with nine-under par 135s to lead a wholesale assault on par and share a one-stroke lead in the $100,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

Douglass, 31-year-old tour regular, carded the day's best score, a 31-32—63, to equal the Tucson National Golf Club course record set in 1955 by Don January. He shot a 72 Thursday.

Ogden, 41, had a 34-32—66 to go with his first round 69, scoring four birdies and an eagle while avoiding any bogeys.

Grouped one stroke behind the leaders, each with an eight-under par 36, were first-round leader Jerry McGee, Harold Henning, and Jack Montgomery.

McGee, 23, New Lexington, Ohio, had to scramble from start to finish Friday to get a 36-35—71. He managed only three birdies while picking up a pair of bogeys.

"This is the best round I ever played," said Douglass. "I'm sure of that."

Douglass, who managed only an even-par 72 Thursday, despite six birdies Friday and recorded nine birdies in humbling the 7,200 yard, par 72 course.

The Denver, Colo., pro, a 6-foot-2, 155 pounder, rolled in birdie putts of four feet or less on six holes and rammed in a 25 footer for a bird on the seventh, his longest putt of the day.

Ogden, a winter tour regular since 1947, also was placing his approach shots within striking distance, holding out four birdies of eight feet or less.

He scored an eagle 3 on the 530-yard 11th hole when he reached the green with a fourwood and sank a six-inch putt.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer shot a three-under 34-35—69 Friday for a 36-hole total of 143, good enough to make the second-round cutoff.

Palmer continued for the second day to have trouble from tee to green. He sprayed his drives and three-putted two holes for bogeys.

Tommy Jacobs, of San Diego, Calif., caught the leaders after 11 holes, going 10 under par with an eagle after sinking an 18 foot putt.

However, the tour veteran bogeyed four of the next seven holes while collecting only one birdie for a 68, two strokes off the pace at 137.

Grouped with Jacobs were George Knudson, last week's winner of the $100,000 Phoenix Open; George Bayer and Dave Stockton.

Ideal golf weather, with fair skies and temperatures in the mid-70s was forecast for Saturday, when the 70 low scorers and ties take a crack at the $20,000 top prize money.

2 Hawaiians Reach Finals

Lima, Peru (AP) — George Downing and Joey Cabell of Hawaii and six Peruvians qualified Friday for the finals of the big waves event of the International Surfing Tournament here.

Cabell won the first heat with Peruvian Oscar Malpartida, Sergio Barreda and Hector Velarde following him.

In the second heat, former world champion Felipe Pomar of Peru beat Downing of Hawaii with Miguel Plaza and Rafael Hanza of Peru in the third and fourth positions.

In the 2,000-meters speed event, Pomar defeated country-men Hector Velarde and Oscar Malpartida. Downing and Andy Newman of California placed fourth and fifth.

Bob Hayes Ahead In Sprint Races

Melbourne, Australia, (AP)—Bob Hayes, Olympic 100-meter gold medalist, won the first two races of the four-event world professional sprint championship Friday.

Hayes, now a pro football player with the Dallas Cowboys, won the 75-yard race by three yards from David Irvine of Australia in 7.4 seconds. Later he clocked 12.3 seconds to beat Irvine by a yard in the 130-yard event.

Hayes now is favored to take the remaining events—the 100 yards and 220 yards—on the closing night of the carnival Saturday.

Bill Howard, Australian pro champion who had been expected to extend Hayes, broke down with a pulled tendon 15 yards after the start of the 75 yards. Howard recently established a world professional record of 11.9 seconds for the 130 yards.

FLORIDA STUDENTS . . . rally at capitol.

Solution Appears Dim In Teachers' Walkout

Tallahassee, Fla. (AP) — Prospects for a quick solution to Florida's teacher walkout appeared dim Friday as a crowd of 1,000 university students and faculty members marched on the State Capitol in support of the teachers and state church leaders called for a weekend of prayer.

Students from Florida State University and Florida A and M marched a mile from the FSU campus to the Capitol steps and chanted, "Kirk, Kirk, we want Kirk." But they dispersed quietly when told the governor was out of town.

Several carried signs proclaiming, "Veto Kirk," and "Scabs, stay home." An aide to Gov. Claude Kirk, Wade Hopping, was given a 200-name petition supporting the teachers.

At the time Kirk was en route to Brevard County where he was greeted at the Melbourne airport by some 50 sign-carrying youths who chanted: "Kirk is a jerk. Kirk is a jerk."

Members of the Brevard Classroom Teacher Association agreed earlier in the day to "give Kirk the silent treatment."

Meanwhile, a Florida Education Association official, George Dabbs, acknowledged that private discussions had begun in Tallahassee in an effort to end the walkout, which has closed one-third of the state's schools and shut half a million students out of their classrooms.

But while Dabbs, a past president of the huge teacher organization, said the talks could possibly lead to an end of the walkout, he also said they could not yet be termed negotiations.

Soviet Scientists Are Urged To Cooperate In UFO Study

Washington (AP) — Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of an Air Force-financed investigation of unidentified flying objects, said Friday that he has appealed to scientists of the Soviet Union to cooperate in a study of flying saucers.

The appeal, in the form of a letter from Condon, was relayed three weeks ago by the prestigious National Academy of Sciences to the Soviet Academy, Condon said in a telephone interview from Boulder, Colo.

"We haven't received any answer yet," he said, "but I guess it's too soon to expect one."

Physicist

Condon, an internationally known physicist now on the faculty of the University of Colorado, is a former chief of the U.S. National Bureau of Standards.

Fifteen months ago Condon was chosen to head an independent investigation by nongovernment scientists to determine whether flying saucers are natural phenomena, or whether they are spaceships, possibly from distant planets.

The Air Force put up almost $500,000 for the study.

Condon said the investigation will not be completed until sometime in June, and his report will not be made public until November of December.

Won't Discuss It

The 65-year-old scientist refused to discuss even preliminary findings. Nor would he speculate on whether the report will resolve controversies surrounding reports of UFOs.

Has the project made him a believer or a nonbeliever in flying saucers?

"I'm now getting to be more one way than the other, but I'm not going to tell you what that way is," Condon replied.

All-White Bowling Alley Forbidden To Operate On Segregated Basis

Columbia, S.C. (AP) — Owners of an all-white bowling alley at Orangeburg, which triggered racial violence that cost three lives, were enjoined by a federal judge Friday from continuing to operate it on a segregated basis.

U.S. District Judge J. Robert Martin Jr. issued the temporary restraining order following a suit brought by U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark against the operators of All Star Triangle Bowl, Inc.

The order was handed down one day before Negro students at South Carolina State College were to begin returning to the Orangeburg campus following a two-week closedown ordered by Gov. Robert McNair. Dormitories are to reopen Saturday and classes are to resume Monday.

Negro students from State College and Claflin College began rioting Feb. 6 after a night march on the bowling alley.

Several students and police officers had been injured before state highway patrolmen shot three students to death and wounded more than 30 in a confrontation at the edge of the State College campus Feb. 8.

Judge Martin said his order will remain in effect until the owners convince the court the bowling alley is not covered by the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

The alley has been closed since the shootings.

Nevada Okays Plan To Save Lake Tahoe

Carson City, Nev. (AP) — The Nevada Legislature has approved Gov. Paul Laxalt's plan to join California in keeping sky-blue Lake Tahoe from becoming a gray-green cesspool in the Sierra.

The plan is designed to keep sewage from polluting the lake and to prevent land developers from turning its mountain basin into a Coney Island in the Pines.

The governor signed the enabling legislation into law and called the basin "one of the most scenic and unusual spots in the world."

Tahoe is on a collision course with civilization. It nestles 6,225 feet above sea level among the peaks along the spine of the California-Nevada border.

One Of Clearest

It is rated one of the three clearest lakes in the world—along with Crater Lake in Oregon and Lake Baikal in Soviet Asia. Divers say they can see 200 feet under water.

For many years the lake was a tourist attraction whose only neaby residents were a few well-to-do summer resorters. Now a two-year-old city sprawls along its south shore.

Cabins, lodges, motels, gas stations and stores cluster along the California shore. High-rise hotel-casinos jab into the sky along the Nevada side.

Compact Approved

The legislature approved an interstate compact Thursday stretching across the mountains to curb the development and keep it from becoming a mountain slum beside a polluted pond.

If California approves and Congress goes along, a regional agency will apply uniform pollution and zoning controls throughout the basin.

It would supersede more than 60 government entities trying to control pollution and planning in patchwork fashion.

Captain Says 'No Doubt' About Tonkin Attacks

Washington (UPI) — The commander of the two U.S. destroyers in the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin incident said Friday night his ships definitely were attacked by the North Vietnamese and denied the attacks were provoked.

The Tonkin incident led to the first U.S. bombing raids against North Vietnam and an overwhelming congressional approval of a resolution requested by President Johnson in support of his war policy.

Critics of the war, particularly the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, have questioned the administration version of what happened that fateful night. Chairman J. William Fulbright has accused the administration of surpressing information that casts doubt on whether the destroyers actually were attacked. Others said the U.S. destroyers provoked the North Vietnamese into attacking them.

'No Doubt'

Capt. John J. Herrick, 47, of Warren, Minn., who was aboard the destroyer Maddox and in charge of both it and the destroyer Turner Joy, told United Press International in an interview that there could be "no doubt" his ships were attacked.

Capt. Herrick denied a charge by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. that the mission of the U.S. ships was to "stimulate" North Vietnamese radards or radios into activity. "I don't know how you would stimulate an electronic reaction," he said. He said his ship carried only "passive" radio equipment. It could only listen.

The naval officer, now stationed in the Norfolk, Va., area, denied that a secret Navy message made public this week by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., was an order to his ships.

Coded Message

The message, as published by Morse, said: "The above patrol will (A) clearly demonstrate our determination to continue these operations. (B) Possibly draw NVN (North Vietnamese navy) PGMs (patrol boats) to northward away from area of 34A-OPS. (C) Eliminate DeSoto Patrol interference with 34A-OPS."

The designation "34A-OPS" referred to South Vietnamese naval bombardment of some North Vietnamese islands.

The term "DeSoto Patrol" was a code name for patrols by U.S. destroyers along the North Vietnamese coast.

Sen. Morse on Wednesday said the cable had been sent by Adm. Thomas Moorer, then U.S. naval commander in the Pacific, to the Maddox.

Herrick Disagrees

But Capt. Herrick and administration officials said Moorer actually sent it to his superior, Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, commander of all U.S. forces in the Pacific area.

There had been a suggestion after the Maddox incident Aug. 2 that the destroyer patrols should leave the area. Adm. Moorer's cable recommended to Sharp that the patrols be moved in location but that they be continued for the three purposes he outlined.

Officials said Sharp sent the message to the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, who did not approve it. Whether they disapproved it or merely did not act on it was not clear. They said it never became an order.

Copies of the message were sent for informational purposes to both the Madox and Turner Joy. Capt. Herrick said he doesn't really remember receiving it and would not have been impressed by it since it was not an order.

Last Trainee, 65% Of Staff Leave Center

The last of the trainees have departed from Lincoln Job Corps Center and Friday marked the last day of work for 65% of some 430 staff members.

The center operated by Northern Systems Co., was closed by order of the federal Office of Economic Opportunity, which set March 1 as the date for all corpsmen to be transferred or terminated and March 15 as the completion date for staff work.

Public affairs spokesman Ellis Rall said more than 550 trainees were transferred to other centers by last Monday.

The corpsmen remaining since that time were either finishing their training or taking general educational development tests.

The last youth—a full program graduate—was shipped out Thursday night.

Since the closing order, about 60 corpsmen were placed in jobs directly from the center. Others quit the program.

Rall said most of the job terminations for staff members came at the instructor level, "however, most offices have been reduced."

Lincoln Man Places Fourth In Met Tryout

Minneapolis, Minn. — A Lincoln man, Russell Thompson, 24, of 3433 Kingsley, Friday placed fourth in the Midwest regional auditions for the Metropolitan Opera.

Thompson, a senior at the University of Nebraska, won $100.

First, second and third place winners were Patricia Craig, Milwaukee, Wis., Leroy Lehr, Con Rapids, Minn. and Susan Wold, Mabel, Minn.

Thompson is a student of NU Voice Professor Earl Jenkins. A baritone, he has been a soloist with the University Singers and in the Messiah production at NU.

He placed second in the Lincoln district tryouts for the Met in January.

First place winner in the Lincoln district was Barbara Hendricks, 19, a Nebraska Wesleyan student from Little Rock, Ark. Miss Hendricks reportedly did not place in the regional tryouts.

Thompson has signed with the Santa Fe, N.M., opera company for its summer tour. He is married and is the father of two children.

Nixon Says Naval Strength Of Soviets Growing Rapidly

By United Press International

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon warned Friday of growing Soviet naval strength and a threat that the Russians might equal U.S. strategic military strength within two years if the nation's leadership is not changed.

Nixon, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, spoke at Portsmouth, N.H., where he is entered in the March 12 presidential primary. The only announced Democratic candidate, Sen. Eugene McCarthy, told a Berlin, N.H., audience the American public had been deceived on the Gulf of Tonkin incident.

McCarthy sided with Sen. Wayne Morse's contention that the two U.S. destroyers involved in the incident Aug. 4, 1964, actually provoked a North Vietnamese attack because they were spy ships.

'Lives At Stake'

"Governments may occasionally have to conceal facts in order to protect the national security," McCarthy said. "They have no right to do so to protect their own political position, especially when American lives are at stake."

Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who left New Hampshire Thursday, opened his campaign Friday in the May 28 Oregon primary by challenging Nixon to join him in support of Senate passage of civil rights legislation.

Romney wired Nixon, who refused to debate the governor face-to-face in New Hampshire, urging him to give "solid support" to Senate approval of a motion to halt debate on the rights measure.

Civil Rights Bill

"Favorable action an spending civil rights legislation will help demonstrate that programs can be achieved through orderly, lawful, peaceful means," Romney said.

In a speech in Portland, Romney also urged resisting "the reflex urge to take on and take over each transient threat in favor of initiatives for shared international stability in a world longing for peace."

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., followed New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's lead Friday by filing an affidavit removing his name from the ballot of the Wisconsin presidential primary April 2.

'Grave Questions'

At Portsmouth, Nixon said the rise of Soviet naval strength in the Mediterranean and the bolstering of its submarine and merchant marine fleets "raise grave questions about the decisions of (Defense Secretary Robert S.) McNamara . . . in effect to cut back on our basic naval strength."

In a statement, he said McNamara predicted five years ago that living Americans would never see the day when the Soviet Union matched the United States strategically.

"I predict that unless there is a new policy in this administration or new leadership in this country, that day will come within the next 24 months," Nixon said.

Strike 'Hurt' Rockefeller; Lindsay Aided

New York Times Service

New York — Republican leaders in many parts of the nation said during a series of interviews this week that they believed Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's chances of receiving the party's presidential nomination were hurt by his actions during the New York City sanitation crisis.

The same leaders also generally agreed that Mayor John V. Lindsay's national prestige was enhanced by his disagreement with the governor over the strategy for ending the crisis. But none of more than two dozen men interviewed said they believed that Lindsay was now a serious probability for a presidential or vice presidential nomination in 1968.

There was substantial disagreement among the Republcans, however, on how badly the governor's political image was tarnished. Some moderates who spoke of the governor with admiration said they believed the political effect would be temporary, but conservatives said they believed the sanitation strike "derailed the Rockefeller bandwagon."

Luckiest Refugees Live In Drain Pipes

New York Times Service

Saigon — The luckiest of the 2,000 refugees at the Dieu Quang orphanage on the outskirts of Saigon are those who arrived first.

They moved into the four-foot-wide drain pipes that a contractor left by the roadside and are now the envy of late arrivals, who sleep on the ground with nothing above their heads.

But as grim as the existence is at Dieu Quang, refugees at Xom Moi orphanage — four miles away — might rush there if they knew about its barren, open spaces.

341 Families

The auditorium, the concrete porches and the shelterless playgrounds at the Xom Moi orphanage have all been divided into six-by-six-foot lots — one for each of 341 refugee families. You cannot walk there at night, one refugee said, without stepping on someone who is sleeping.

Xom Moi is not crowded, however, in comparison with the refugee center at the Chuvanan school in the Chinese quarter of Saigon. There, 5,106 people are jammed into school buildings and grounds that cover less than a quarter of a city block.

This is the situation in the 120 refugee camps that have sprung up in Saigon since Jan. 30, when Viet Cong raiders invaded the city and its suburbs and touched off street fighting that forced tens of thousands from their homes.

Little Milk, Meat

Although rice is coming steadily into the camps now, milk and meat are as hard to find as beds.

Aware of the refugees' plight, the United States Agency for International Development and dozens of student and church groups are working steadily at the refugee camps. But progress is slow.

Just how many refugees have been created as a result of the Viet Cong's lunar new year offensive is still not known, although officials of the South Vietnamese and U.S. governments agree that the number runs into the hundreds of thousands.

Companion Suits Totaling $55,870 Allege Negligence

Companion suits totaling $55,870.05 were filed in Lancaster District Court Friday against Paul L. Olson and the Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph Co. in connection with a Sept. 20, 1967, two-car accident.

The plaintiffs, Kahlil and Widad A. Mosluh, allege negligence on the part of the defendants when a telephone company vehicle driven by Olson allegedly drove through a red light and struck the Mosluh vehicle broadside at the intersection of 16th and N.

According to the petitions, the impact forced and threw the Mosluh car over the southeast curb of the intersection; and Mrs. Mosluh, driver of the car, suffered multiple injuries as a result of the accident.

U.S., Saigon Disagree On Objective Of Reds

New York Times Service

Saigon — A basic disagreement has developed between the United States and South Vietnamese commands as to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese objectives in their current offensive, it was learned Friday.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the American commander, and his staff believe that Khe Sanh, the Marine outpost below the western end of the demilitarized zone, and Saigon are the major targets of the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese forces.

Gen. Cao Van Vien, chief of the Vietnamese joint general staff, is said to believe that the Communists' primary goal is to split South Vietnam with an attack through the central highlands to the coast between Nha Trang and Qui Nhon.

Troop Deployments

The difference in opinion has already been reflected in troop deployments. The American command has sharply reduced its strength in the pivotal central lowlands province of Binh Dinh to support the two northernmost provinces, Quang Tri and Thua Thien.

It has sent two brigades, totalling about 8,000 men, north to serve as a mobile reserve in the event of a North Vietnamese ground assault on the Marine fortress at Khe Sanh.

However, one brigade has now been committed to the battle to secure the citadel at Hue, where the struggle is now in its fourth week.

20,000 Infiltrators

It was also learned that American military intelligence puts North Vietnamese infiltration into South Vietnam at 20,000 men during January, nearly triple the estimated rate for December.

Most of this strength is concentrated around Khe Sanh and elsewhere in Quang Tri and Thua Thien provinces. There were also reports that the U.S. command said were not fully confirmed that the North Vietnamese sixth division had moved into the Dak To region northwest of Pleiku in the central highlands.

Westmoreland, discounting the view that the North Vietnamese concentration of an estimated 20,000 troops is nothing more than an elaborate diversion or an optional point of attack, is said on good authority to be still convinced that the main enemy thrust will come there again and again.

No. Vietnam Said Ready For Long War

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following dispatch is by Bernard-Joseph Cabanes, an Agence France-Presse correspondent who has just returned to Hanoi from a trip through the mountains of North Vietnam.)

New York Times Service

Hanoi (Agence France-Presse)—The back country of North Vietnam is prepared for a long war and constitutes a secure refuge from the bombing for the administrative, industrial, cultural, scholastic and health organizations of the Red River delta and the southern provinces.

This is the major impression gained in a 300-mile trip through the mountain country from the foothills of the Annamite chain to the Laotian border.

Wide, good roads have been opened in these mountains whose summits are covered with thick jungle and swathed in mist for several months of the year.

Hospitals have been built, factories installed and dispersed, museums placed in shelters, and administrative services set up. All the resources of nature have been used to protect them effectively from possible bombing.

Elsewhere, there can be seen a high school whose classrooms are dispersed over several square miles and built in bamboo groves. The school's administration has also built classrooms underground where the classes can be held in case of a raid.

Dirksen Tells GOP To Back Crime Control

Washington (UPI)—Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen advised party leaders Friday to key the 1968 election campaign to a promise to control crime and rioting in the nation's cities.

Raising the question that the Democratic administration was unequal to the task, the Illinois Republican told a campaign-planning meeting of the Republican National Committee: "If they can't do it, (they should) move over and let somebody else have a chance."

Dirksen's criticism of administration handling of law enforcement drew the most enthusiastic response from the party leaders.

TRY Presented $550 In Donation By Kiwanis Club

Capital City Kiwanis Club Friday night presented $550 to Training Retarded Youngsters (TRY) and pledged to add another $750 during the year.

Of the Friday gift, $300 was for equipment and $250 the first installment of $1,000 to be given during the year in quarterly installments.

Club President Ken Johnson made the presentation to Robert Staberg, chairman of the TRY board. Bill Lutes headed the club committee which planned the gift; other committee members were Dr. Paul Landolt, Dr. Vincent Colon and Maynard Brummer.

Brain Disease Kills Belgium Girl

Bruges, Belgium (AP)—Eliane de Eyter, 5, the critically ill girl who received thousands of Christmas cards and gifts from all over the world, died Friday, The Belgian radio reported.

An appeal from her father's air force comrades to allied air forces touched off a huge worldwide sympathy movement at Christmas. She even received good wishes from President Johnson. She suffered from leuco-encephalities, a rare brain disease.

Draft Call Report Halts Stock Rally

New York (AP) — News of a bigger call-up in the draft helped trip the stock market Friday as it tried to run its string of daily rallies to four straight. Trading was moderately active.

The market advanced in early morning but backed away quickly on word that the Pentagon had set the April draft call at 48,000, the highest in 18 months.

After the sustained technical rally, brokers said, the market was vulnerable, anyway. Precautionary selling was indicated in view of the weekend and the difficult military situation in Vietnam where day-to-day developments could cause a radical change in the entire outlook.

Of 1,466 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 757 fell and 480 rose. New highs for 1967-68 totaled 17 and new lows 23.

While the broad indicators of market performance were all lower, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials posted a meager gain of .57 at 848.80, thanks to selective strength among its components.

Of the entire list of Dow industrials, 10 rose, 16 fell and 4 were unchanged.

Among the gainers on the Dow, Eastman Kodak was the star, rising 3⅞ in further response to its proposed 2-for-1 stock split.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped .6 to 309.8 with industrials down .6, rails off .8 and utilities down .2.

Volume was 8.81 million shares compared with 9.17 million Wednesday.

The New York Stock Exchange index fell 22 cents to $50.68.

Eight of the 15 most active issues fell, five rose and two were unchanged.

Prices fell on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 3.55 million shares compared with 3.78 million Wednesday.

Soybeans And Grains Decline

Chicago (AP) — Soybeans and grain futures prices declined on the Chicago Board of Trade this week in slow dealings that lacked strength for a sustained movement in either direction.

The decline started on the first day of trade in the week, eased a little the next day, picked up another loss at midweek, rested on that lower level for the holiday and finally closed the week still lower.

When trade closed Friday, wheat futures were ¼ to 1½ cents lower for the week, March 1.48-48⅛; corn was ¾ to 1⅜ lower, March 1.17⅝-¾; oats were ⅜ to 1⅛ lower, March 78⅞ cents; rye was 1¾ to 2⅛ lower, March 1.22⅛ and soybeans were ⅞ to 1¼ lower, March 2.73.

The range of price movements during the four sessions was relatively tight. Wheat and rye prices moved within a range of 2 cents; corn, oats and soybeans between 1 and 2 cents.

Beckham Pays His Filing Fee

Omaha (UPI) — Singer-Evangelist Thomas Edward Beckham Friday paid his $300 filing fee as a Republican candidate for Congress from the Second District.

He was the first Republican to file for the post held by longtime incumbent Glenn Cunningham of Omaha, a Republican.

Beckham recently was ordered to appear before a grand jury in New Orleans, La., in connection with District Atty. Jim Garrison's investigation of the Kennedy assassination.

Beckham declined to discuss his grand jury testimony with reporters.

Fairmont Sets 25 Cent Dividend

Omaha (AP) — Directors of Fairmont Foods Company Friday declared quarterly dividends of 25 cents per share on its outstanding $1 cumulative preferred stock and on its outstanding common stock. Both dividends are payable April 1 to stockholders of record March 5.

Surplus May Go Down

Des Moines (UPI) — Gov. Harold E. Hughes said an earlier estimate of a state treasury surplus of $41.7 million at the end of the current biennium may end up being as little as $22 million.

Rites Saturday For Schneider, Vietnam Victim

Plattsmouth (AP) — Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. John's Catholic Church in Plattsmouth for W.O. Roger Schneider, 20, who was killed Feb. 2 in Vietnam. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schneider, Louisville.

The Defense Department said Schneider was killed when hit by Communist small arms fire while piloting his craft in support of American troops.

He was a 1965 graduate of Plattsmouth High School. He entered the Army in September, 1966, and had been in Vietnam since October.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two sisters and a brother.

Meet Star Carrier Matt Foreman

MATT FOREMAN Studies Stars

If a citizen of David City can't find his dog early in the morning, it's no cause for alarm. He is probably only one of several who likes to accompany Matt Foreman on his paper route.

Matt has been a carrier salesman for The Lincoln Star for almost a year now and his customers claim that his service has been consistently excellent and prompt.

An A student at David City Public School, Matt plays football and basketball. He also likes ice skating and is a successful fisherman.

Matt's main interest, however, is the stars. He has purchased a telescope with profits from his paper route and plans to make astronomy his career.

Matt's parents say having a paper route has taught their son dependability and "how to carry on an intelligent conversation with adults" among other things and feel that other boys would benefit from this type of work, too.

Young men interested in becoming carrier salesmen for The Lincoln Star should contact the State Carrier Dept., The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb. 68501.

Kilpatrick Family Of Utica Leaves $726,000 To Charities

More than half a million dollars, the life savings of two brothers and a sister who farmed near Utica, has been donated to Lincoln's St. Thomas Orphanage and three other Catholic charities.

A total of $726,670.64 was left to the charities by John, Thomas and Anna Kilpatrick. The money came from the sale of the Kilpatrick lands near Utica and in Seward and York county.

None of the Kilpatricks married and their wills specified that the money be divided equally among the charities. The last of the family, Anna, died in 1966 at age 85.

A bequest of $181,667.66 each went to St. Thomas, Boys Town, Omaha, St. Columban's missions, Omaha, and the national Society for the Propagation of the Faith which has headquarters in New York City.

St. Thomas's Director, The Rev. Edward C. Tuchek, said the orphanage's share of the estate will be set up as an endowment fund in memory of the Kilpatricks.

The annual income from the fund will be used to help support the orphanage program which is set up on a foster care system through which children are placed in foster homes rather than in one large institution.

One Judge Could Hear Proposed Tort Claims

A one-judge court to handle tort claims made against the state was suggested Friday to the Legislature's interim study committee on state tort claims legislation.

The committee, headed by Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln, is on record as favoring broadened legislation to permit tort claim suits against the state or its agencies.

The committee heard testimony from members of the state's sundry claims commission, that now processes claims under $250.

"If the committee decides to introduce a broadened tort claims bill," Attorney General Clarence Meyer suggested, "the committee might consider establishing a one-judge court to hear such cases."

Meyer said the state claims judge would hear the cases in the county of occurence and would have the same status for appeal to the Supreme Court as the District Court.

If such a court were established, the committee was advised, the limitation before the sundry claims commission might be increased to $500.

The study committee will meet again March 13, when representatives of the State Bar Association and insurance industry and several state officials are scheduled to appear.

American Honda Advised To Get Nebraska License

The Nebraska Motor Vehicle Dealers License Board Friday advised the American Honda Motor Co. Inc. to obtain a distributor's representative license or face possible court action.

Board members conferred with representatives of the California company, but deferred further action until the board's March 15 meeting.

The board contends American Honda's failure to obtain a state license violates Nebraska law.

Law Questioned

Lynn N. Takagaki of Los Angeles, attorney for American Honda, questioned whether the state licensing law was applicable to his company, and whether the law is constitutional.

Company representatives reported there are 15 to 20 franchised Honda dealers in Nebraska and some 1,800 units were distributed in 1967.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Calvin Robinson said distributors for several other foreign automobile and motorcycle manufacturers have obtained Nebraska distributor licenses.

"If the Nebraska law is legally applicable to their operations, and I think it is, then the same law is applicable to American Honda," he said.

To Decide

Takagaki indicated the company would decide by March 15 whether to apply for a Nebraska distributor's license, or defend a possible court test by the state board.

In other action, the board cited two car dealers for informal hearing at the March meeting regarding complaints made individual purchasers.

The dealers are Auto Sales Inc. of Lincoln and Discount Motors Inc. of Omaha.

Air Pollution Plan In Stage Of 'Inquiring'

Director T. A. Filipi reported Friday that the division of environmental health services is in the "period of inquiry" on setting up air pollution control standards for Nebraska.

Filipi said he has sent a letter to legislative budget chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings asking whether funds can be diverted for an air pollution study.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann must inform the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare by Dec. 31 whether Nebraska plans to impose its own standards, Filipi said.

Either, Or

He added that the "secretary (of the department) is just saying that either we set the standards or the federal people will."

Air pollution standards, in form, will resemble the water quality control standards, Filipi said.

The State Water Pollution Control Council is currently haggling with federal officials over a cause demanding secondary treatment along the Missouri River. The Council contends such implementation should not be made mandatory until needed.

'Haven't Staff'

To Filipi's division implementing air pollution standards "means setting up a program as big or bigger than the water quality program because in water we know something," he said. "But in air we don't have the staff."

The 1967 Legislature stifled the division's bid to hire an air pollution engineer.

"This is new, novel and unique," Filipi said. "We need some very careful guidance."

Interim Plane Check Asked; Vest Cautious

State Aeronautics Director Howard Vest reported Friday the department's "interim" twin-engined executive airplane has been returned to a Kansas City distributor for a thorough check after developing engine trouble.

The used Aero Commander is being loaned to the department under an agreement with the Royal Globe Insurance Co. until a 1968 Grand Commander can be delivered in June to replace the state plane demolished in a Dec. 2 crash.

Vest said the Aero Commander was picked up Monday by the department and was used to fly Gov. Norbert Tiemann to a town hall meeting at North Platte earlier this week.

On the return trip, John Auer, state pilot, reported the right engine cylinder temperature "ran high" and the plane was returned to the Kansas City Flying Service for a check.

Vest said only a couple of days should be needed to check and repair the trouble.

It's probably a minor thing, but "I'm being cautious," said Vest, who was injured in the Dec. 2 crash of the state's month-old Grand Commander.

Double Funeral Set For Couple Killed In Crash

A double funeral service for two Lincoln young people killed in an accident on Interstate 80 near Wood River Thursday will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the First Lutheran Church.

The two, Linda Anderson, 20, of 1927 No. 58th and Lloyd B. Pearson, 24, of 2945 So. 35th, were engaged to be married in June.

They were killed when their car collided with a semi-trailer truck one-half mile west of the Wood River interchange.

Mr. Pearson, a draftsman for the Lincoln Steel Corp., was a graduate of Northeast High School and a member of Grace Methodist Church.

Miss Anderson was a secretary for the City-County Health Department. She was a graduate of the Lincoln School of Commerce and of Lincoln High School. She was a member of First Lutheran Church.

Freedom Of Press

Shreveport, La. (AP)—Caddo Dist. Court Judge John A. Dixon said he thinks freedom of speech and freedom of responsible press makes for a free country. He sharply criticized the controversial Reardon Report which would limit news concerning criminal cases.

Wallace Won't Travel To Omaha Until Next Month

Omaha (AP) — A member of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace's staff said Friday Wallace won't come to Nebraska until March 4 and the scheduled convention of the third party he hopes to form in the state.

John De Carlo said the former governor has curtailed his speaking engagements because of the hospitalization of his wife Lurleen, the current governor of Alabama.

The Wallace organization had hoped to have the former governor make an appearance in Omaha Saturday.
